JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN DEAD AFTER REMARKABLE CAREER

Tariff Reformer and Imperial-ist Was Among Most Noted
Men of Britain

DEATH DUE TO HEART
FAILURE LAST NIGHT

Represented Birmingham in House of Commons Since
1876 Until Last Year

CAUSED MANY SURPRISES
DURING POLITICAL LIFE

London, July 3.—Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain died here last night. His death, which removes one of the most striking figures of British politics in the past generation, came as a surprise, as the condition of his health was not publicly known to be any worse than at any time in the last two or three years.

Mrs. Chamberlain, who never left her husband's side since he was stricken with paralysis seven years ago, and his son, Austin Chamberlain, were with Mr. Chamberlain when death occurred at 10.30 o'clock last night at his London residence. The event cast a gloom over the London season, which was at its height.

Mr. Chamberlain's last public appearance was at a garden party on the grounds of his Birmingham home on May 6 last, when, with his wife and son he received several hundred constituents. Mr. Chamberlain was wheeled on to the lawn in a chair and appeared feeble when he lifted his hat to friends and neighbors in acknowledgment of their salutes.

The cause of Mr. Chamberlain's death was announced as heart failure. Although he had been gradually sinking since Tuesday, members of the family had preferred his condition should not become publicly known.

The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain was the pioneer in Great Britain of tariff reform, and the great advocate of imperialism. For thirty-eight years, with a brief interregnum, he represented Birmingham in parliament. In 1896 his career of stormy activities was ended by a stroke of paralysis. The blow fell when he was in the midst of a strenuous campaign for the establishment of a protective tariff with preference for the British colonies, and just after his constituents had celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of his first election.

Since that day the strong fighter had been an invalid, a pathetic onlooker at politics. His chief consolation was the growing political prominence of his son Austin Chamberlain, and the loyalty of his constituents. Birmingham would not dispose of her leader, although he was no longer able to represent her upon the floor of the House of Commons. In each election he was returned to his old seat, and appeared afterward in the house but once, when amid respectful silence, he made his way to the speaker's desk on the arm of his son, and took the oath of office. January 5, 1913, Mr. Chamberlain wrote to his constituents, resigning his seat, and saying:

"I cannot hope again to do my work in parliament, and I feel that our city and the constituency need the services of a younger man."

While his greatest claim to fame was his determined and brilliant advocacy for years of a protective policy for Great Britain, the citadel of free trade, he will also be remembered as the bitterest and most forceful opponent of Gladstone in that statesman's efforts for home rule for Ireland; as one of the founders of the Liberal-Unionist party; and as the minister whose policy in South Africa involved his country in the greatest war it had experienced since the Crimean conflict, but blotted out the two Boer republics and made South Africa all red.

From the day he left University college, London, to enter his father's screw factory at Birmingham, Joseph Chamberlain devoted his best energies to the principle of constructive reform. It was in 1868, just 32 years after his birth in London, that he received his baptism of public life, as town councillor of Birmingham, later serving as mayor for successive terms. He gave his whole time to the cause of municipal reform, and what had been previously one of the worst governed cities in England, became a model for municipal reformers.

In 1876 he entered parliament, being elected without opposition as a Liberal from Birmingham. In his early years in the Commons he sat among the home rule Liberals with whose aspirations he was supposed to sympathize, but a few years later he emphatically disavowed his associates in the house of any notion they may have had of his belief in separate government for Ireland.

In less than four years he was a cabinet minister, entering Gladstone's government in 1880 as president of the board of trade, and in less than a decade his hold on popular opinion was almost as great as Gladstone's.

After the general election of 1885 he became president of the local government board, but by the spring of 1886 he and Gladstone's relations on the latter's Irish policy had become so strained that he broke with the great premier, resigned his place in the cabinet and left the Liberal party never to return to it.

He, Lord Hartington (afterwards the Duke of Devonshire), G. J. Goschen and others high in the Liberal party, who saw in their former leader's home rule proposals and propaganda a menace to the integrity of the empire, formed a new party to resist them. They called themselves Liberal-Unionists and anti-home rule was, in the beginning their main tenet. Lord Hartington was the first leader, but when he was elevated to the peerage through the death of his father, Mr. Chamberlain was chosen the party's chief.

Having been twice a widower he took as his third wife Miss Mary Endicott, daughter of William C. Endicott, president Cleveland's secretary of war.

During the campaign of 1892 Mr. Chamberlain worked with great effect, and subsequently in the Commons he was to the forefront in all the assaults on the Irish government bill, and clashed frequently with Mr. Gladstone. The home rulers considered him a renegade, and this ranking he aggravated by his rasping tactics. During the debate on the bill, one night in July, 1893, Mr. Gladstone tartly compared him with "the Devil's advocate." The next night, in debate Mr. Chamberlain retorted so caustically that T. P. O'Connor yelled at him "Judas! Judas!" followed presently by a free fight on the floor between several members—a rare outbreak in probably the most staid legislative body in the world—accompanied by vigorous hissing from the galleries.

The Birmingham man with the monocle and long aquiline nose (both the delight of the English caricaturist; the keen head and the forceful tongue; the faultlessly fashionable attire topped off invariably with a white orchid in the coat lapel, was now a commanding figure at Westminster. On the formation of the coalition (Conservative and Unionist) ministry in 1895 he took office under Lord Salisbury as colonial secretary. In this position his remarkable powers were severely tested by South Africa—the chain of strenuous events beginning with Jameson's hare-brained raid, and ending, when Lord Kitchener had worn down the stubborn Boer resistance, with the Treaty of Vereeniging—but he stood the test. His enemies, too, savagely assailed him as being the adroit tool of the Rand gold miners, and his course toward the Afrikaners was a leading issue in the campaign of 1900, and during 1901. But he was the object of great popular demonstrations before his visit to South Africa late in 1902 on a mission of conciliation and observation, and also on his return early in 1903.

The war and the elections over, he set himself the task of fostering the relations between the mother country and the colonies. The constitution for the Australian Commonwealth was one of his productions.

Just before his 67th birthday Chamberlain launched his scheme of fiscal reform, which partly succeeded in splitting the Unionist party. It was in May, and at Birmingham that he announced his new policy, and finding in September that his party was not ready for so radical a change, he resigned to devote himself to popularizing his doctrines. He fought the cause with a genius, eloquence, energy and organization, never equalled in any previous moment in his career, but his party wavered, and went down to defeat in the election of 1906. The one bright spot for the Unionist party, during those dark days, was Birmingham and vicinity, where Chamberlain carried his candidates to victory.

Joseph Chamberlain was born in London, July 8, 1836, one year before (Concluded on page 12.)

CHANGE PROBABLE IN CLOSING POLLS AT NEXT ELECTION

Ottawa, July 3.—It is not improbable that when the next general election is held the polls will not close at 5 o'clock, but will remain open until 7 or 8 o'clock in the evening. The committee of the house which last session considered amendments to the Electoral act considered this question as well as the proposal that election day should be a holiday. There are some objections to the latter proposal, because it is feared that it would lead towards disturbances. The probabilities are that the proposal to make election day a holiday will not be adopted, but that the hours for voting will be extended. This will give an opportunity for the employees in factories and offices to vote after working hours, as they are not given an opportunity to do so earlier in the day.

NATURALIZATION ACT NOT IN FORCE TILL JANUARY NEXT YEAR

Ottawa, July 3.—A circular has been issued by the department of justice correcting some misapprehension which existed in regard to the naturalization act passed by parliament last winter. The circular points out that the act does not come into effect until January 1, 1915. In regard to people living in Canada on that date it will not apply for three years.

Under the new act all certificates of qualification will be issued by the secretary of state, the judges first certifying as to the evidence of qualification. Under the present act naturalization is granted by the courts.

NOTORIOUS DESPERADO HUGH WHITNEY, KILLED

Man for Whom Reward of $5,000 Was Offered Was Shot Holding Up Train.

Pendleton, Ore., July 3.—Posses in the Blue Mountains to-day continued their search for the two or possibly three highwaymen who escaped yesterday after holding up O. W. R.R. & N. train No. 5, near Meacham, Ore. The body of the highwayman who was killed was identified to-day as Hugh Whitney, the notorious desperado, on whose head had been set a price of nearly $5,000.

George McDuffey, deputy sheriff of Heppner, Ore., a passenger on the train who killed Whitney and wounded another of the robbers, was pronounced out of danger. He received a flesh wound over the heart when he fired on two of the robbers in a chair car.

Whitney had operated in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. He was only 35. He is believed to have been the slayer of the conductor killed on the Oregon Short Line near Dubois, Idaho, in 1911.

WEDDING PARTY HURT IN TAXICAB ACCIDENT

Seven Are Seriously Injured Near Everett When Machine Goes Into Deep Gulch.

Everett, Wash., July 3.—Seven persons, comprising a bridal party, were seriously injured, one perhaps fatally, at midnight last night near Machias hill, when the automobile in which they were riding jumped the road and fell into a deep gulch. Miss Cora Chapman, a waitress of Everett, sustained several broken ribs and internal injuries. Mrs. Minnie Urterson, of Snohomish, the bride, was terribly lacerated and has several teeth broken, and Luther A. Boyle, the groom, suffered a broken arm. Sidney Sheldon, of Everett, has a rib broken, and Robert Stevens and Mrs. Stevens, his wife, sustained fractured arms. The party were returning from the wedding in a taxicab.

The injured were taken to the Providence hospital, where it is said Miss Chapman has a slight chance of recovery. The taxicab driver, Charles Gray, Jr., escaped with minor injuries.

H. A. Hastings, Rev. Sidney Morgan and Rev. H. H. Gowen. An orchestra played selections and Mrs. Walter Johnson, of Winnipeg, sang.

PRINCESS OF WIED AND CHILDREN FLEE

Abdication by William of Albanian Throne is Generally Expected

AMERICAN MINISTER
FEARS RELIGIOUS WAR

Williams Says Prince is Weak and Holds Powers of Europe to Blame

WANTS TROOPS SENT FOR THE DEFENCE OF EPIRUS

Vienna, July 3.—Princess of Wied, wife of the new ruler of Albania, left Durazzo to-day with her children, in consequence of the critical situation there. She has gone to Bucharest. It is generally believed that the departure of the princess foreshadows the abdication of Prince William.

Athens, Greece, July 3.—George Fred Williams, the American minister of Greece, who recently made public a report of his investigations in Albania, in which he denounced the international commission of contact, and declared that the present regime in Albania was impracticable, issued a new statement last night justifying his former statement and emphasizing the danger menacing Epirus through the rapid advance of the Albanian rebels.

Mr. Williams prefaced his new statement by the declaration that it is made without any preliminary understanding with the Epirote insurgent leader, Zographos, or the Greek government, and adds: "Although my first statement is criticized as throwing too great a responsibility upon Prince William of Wied, I contend that the following statement, on which the accusations were based, cannot be denied by Prince William."

"Colonel Thompson (the Dutch commander of the gendarmerie, who was killed in an insurgent attack on Durazzo), appointed by Prince William, commissary-general at Argynostro and Koritza, arranged with Zographos conditions of conciliation. Prince William of Wied, now directed the political affairs of Albania without regard to the international commission. On Col. Thompson's return, the Albanian ministry rejected the terms he had arranged, and Essad Pasha demanded 25,000 men for the purpose of undertaking the campaign against the Epirotes. Col. Thompson opposed this, arguing that a campaign would mean bloodshed and provoke religious hatred that would last many years."

"Essad Pasha's plan was dropped, but the prince recalled Col. Thompson, thus dismissing the only pacific man. Prince William of Wied is a weak character, and the powers who nominated him must be held responsible for his actions. He is responsible merely to safeguard their own estates, instead of in the interests of the population."

Mr. Williams states that in the face of a serious situation, Albania has been menaced from the north by the Mussulman insurgents and from the south by the Epirotes, he counselled the leading men of that region to arrange an understanding with Zographos and proclaim their independence, which, he says, would have been realized except that the arrival of the Austrian warships and a German delegate to the international commission stopped the negotiation.

He emphasized the danger created by the parallel advance of Epirotes and Mussulmans and fears that the powers will not be able to prevent the outbreak of a religious war. He contends that it is Europe's duty to dispatch troops to defend Epirus, and repeats his assertion that Albania is fitted for self-government if it can be disencumbered of criminal foreign influences at work in Durazzo.

HENRY W. DENISON, LEGAL ADVISER OF JAPAN, DEAD

Eulogistic Statement of His Services Issued by Japanese Foreign Office.

Tokio, July 3.—Henry Willard Denison, legal adviser of the Japanese department of foreign affairs since 1889, died to-day. Mr. Denison was stricken with paralysis a week ago. Announcement of Mr. Denison's death was withheld for several hours in accordance with Japanese custom, in order to permit the emperor to confer the decoration of the Grand Cordon of the Order of Paulownia on the dead man.

An eulogistic statement in regard to the services of Mr. Denison was later issued by the Japanese foreign office. In it he was hailed as one of the greatest benefactors of Japan. It concluded: "The whole Japanese nation joins in the sentiment of thankfulness and indebtedness for the distinguished services of Mr. Denison and in the expression of sorrow at his departure."

ARMED BANDITS ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK AT KASLO

Five Men With Speed Launch Fail in Daring Venture Carried Out Without Disguise and Frustrated by Activity of Bank Official

Nelson, B. C., July 3.—A determined attempt was made this morning by five armed bandits to hold up and rob the Bank of British North America at Kaslo, forty miles from here. Brief details only of the plot, which was unsuccessful have been received.

When their plans failed the men escaped, but are now being chased by a posse of police and citizens. Chief of Police Devitt, of Nelson, assembled a posse and set out hoping to find traces of the bandits as soon as the news reached here this morning. The robbery was a daring venture. There were five men in the party, and all of them were well armed. They made their approach to Kaslo in a speed launch which they tied up within easy reach and then proceeded to the bank.

Men Can Be Easily Identified.
The men made no attempt to conceal their features with masks, and were seen by several people in the town. It is thought they will easily be identified should the posse now after them catch them.

The attempt to rob the bank failed owing to the vigilance of a bank official who discharged his revolver and attracted people. When the robbers found they had failed to conduct their robbery in silence they became alarmed and ran for their boat. They only had a few minutes start on the pursuing posse from Kaslo, and their capture is expected.

By taking the water route it is thought they counted on leaving no tracks in the vicinity.

ALFRED BURBANK SAYS ALASKA VALLEYS GOOD FOR POTATO GROWING

Dawson, Y. T., July 3.—Alfred Burbank, noted plant specialist, brother of Luther Burbank, after visiting here, declares the valleys of Alaska and Yukon have marvelous capabilities for root crop production. He says: "Give me time in Alaska and I will evolve a potato that will be adapted thoroughly to conditions there, and that will be free from water, equal to any grown in the world, and that will enable Alaska, with her thousands of miles of fine valleys, to supply all the potatoes needed in the United States. America's potato lands are already short and much more will be needed. "Alaska may be looked to for the future supply. Alaska also should ship cabbages, turnips, celery and all kinds of root crops."

"The government railways and rivers afford the natural highways. Siberian apples should thrive in Alaska."

MOURNERS AT VIENNA GATHER BEFORE DAWN

Bodies of Archduke and Wife
Repose in Coffins of Silver and Gold

Vienna, July 3.—Crowds of mourners visited to-day the chapel of Hofburg, in which the coffins containing the bodies of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and the Duchess of Hohenberg lay in state. A continuous procession marched past the catafalque. Emperor Francis Joseph left the suburban palace at Schanbrunn early to-day for the Hofburg. As he passed through the streets thousands of people cheered him.

Although the court chapel was not opened until 8 o'clock the crowds began to assemble outside before dawn. The bodies lay in silver coffins, ornamented with gold. That of the archduke was decorated with gold bands and oak leaves, while that of the duchess was covered with lilies. Life Guards formed a guard of honor. In front of the coffin reposed two wreaths bearing the simple inscription, "Sofie, Max, Ernst." They were from the archduke's children. Other floral offerings numbering several hundred were placed in apartments adjoining the chapel.

Masses were said at all the altars of the chapel from 8 o'clock in the morning until noon. At 10 o'clock the court choir sang the Miserere, and from noon until 1 o'clock the bells of the city churches were tolled.

AGED COUPLE FIGHT AND VANQUISH NIGHT ROBBER

Woman Awakes at Noise of Struggle and Chokes Man Who Dies
Shortly After.

Yorkville, Ill., July 3.—A dramatic story of a fight to the death in the dark with a masked robber, who invaded their home early to-day, was told by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grimwood, an aged couple, who live on a farm two miles east of here. The robber died as she was throttling him. Mrs. Grimwood said, after he had been thrown to the floor by her husband. She is a large and powerful woman, although 65 years of age. Before Mrs. Grimwood got into the fight her husband and the robber, the farmer armed with a club and the robber with an icepick, circled round and round in the dark lunging and striking. Their heavy breathing was all that guided the blows. At length one of Grimwood's swings crashed on the robber's head and he fell.

Mrs. Grimwood, awakened by the rushing sound of feet, leaped on the robber, seizing him by the throat. She choked him while her husband got up, struck a light and went after a rope to bind the man. The robber died as her husband came back. Papers found in the robber's pocket bore the name of William Davis.

SURRENDER ONLY WAY CARRANZA WILL DEAL

Meeting of Mexican Delegates
Impossible Unless Huerta
Gives Way

NO OTHER WAY OUT IS CALDERON'S VIEW OF IT

American Delegates to Niagara Falls Conference Return to Washington

WILL WAIT THERE UNTIL
CONSTITUTIONALISTS ACT

Washington, D. C., July 3.—That the constitutionalist generals, who are to discuss with General Carranza the proposal to send delegates to meet the delegates of General Huerta, provisional president of Mexico, will agree to no discussion between the parties unless the basis of the meeting is the surrender of the Huerta faction in Mexico, was the opinion expressed here to-day by Iglesias Calderon, the constitutionalist leader, who, it is thought here will be one of the delegates his party will send to the conference should it take place. He said to-day it would be surrender or nothing, and any meeting that might be agreed to by the constitutionalists would be only on the terms on which Huerta will relinquish control of the government of Mexico and his troops now in the field hand over their arms to the constitutionalists.

The American delegates to the Niagara Falls mediation conference, Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, returned to the capital to-day and conferred with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. While the Niagara conference is in recess awaiting Carranza's canvass of his generals under the plan of Guadalupe, as to sending constitutionalist delegates to confer with Huerta's emissaries, the American delegates will remain in Washington, and the three South American mediators will return here and keep in touch with the situation awaiting the next move.

John R. Silliman, former vice-consul at Saltillo, left Washington to-day for Mexico as President Wilson's envoy to attempt to induce constitutionalist leaders to mediate their differences with Huerta and to bring about harmony between Carranza and Villa. Mr. Silliman had a final conference with the president. He would not discuss his mission. While Carranza is canvassing his generals on meeting the Huerta delegates, Mr. Silliman intends to tell the constitutionalists of the importance attached to that proposal by the Washington administration. Mr. Silliman will be raised to the full rank of consul later. It was announced, but not at this time, because such an act might be construed as recognition of Huerta.

President Wilson greeted the American delegates warmly. "I'm proud of the way you represented the United States," said he. The conference was brief and an engagement was made for a longer one later.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 3.—Dr. Romulo S. Naon, minister from Argentina and one of the mediators in the Mexican situation, is at a hotel here to-day. He planned a sight-seeing trip around the city and expected to leave for Washington on the evening train.

He is there making an investigation. Twelve expert rat-catchers have been ordered to New Orleans from San Francisco, and to-day Doctors Frinch Simpson and Charles Williams, of the service, both experts in plague extermination, were ordered to New Orleans from New York and Washington.

ASKS CONGRESS TO GIVE SALEM PEOPLE RELIEF

Washington, July 3.—President Wilson sent a special message to congress to-day urging the immediate appropriation of $200,000 for the relief of those homeless and destitute in the Salem fire. He included a telegram from Governor Walsh saying that 3,000 families were in need. In his message President Wilson held that the action of the national government at the time of the San Francisco disaster had furnished a precedent.

PRINZIP REGRETS HE SHOT AUSTRIAN DUKE

Gabrinovics Tells of Bomb-Throwing and Poison Plot; Another Man Arrested

Vienna, July 2.—Nedeljo Gabrinovics, who threw a bomb at Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife while they were proceeding to the Sarajevo town hall last Sunday, has made a confession, according to dispatches received from Sarajevo. In his confession he said that, after learning while at Belgrade that Archduke Francis Ferdinand was going to Sarajevo, he communicated with Gavrio Prinzip, who fired the fatal shots, with the result that they resolved to go there and kill the Archduke, the Duchess and their suites and die themselves for the Fatherland.

To obtain bombs they applied to Major Milan Pribitchevitch, secretary of a Pan-Serbian union, who had joined the Serbians. Through him, Gabrinovics secured bombs and revolvers. Gabrinovics undertook to find four other bomb-throwers, and it was agreed that when the Archduke was seen approaching each should hold a bomb in his right hand and a bottle of poison in his left hand, and that he should drink the poison after throwing the bombs. Gabrinovics succeeded in finding accomplices, one of whom was a Belgrade student named Grabes. The conspirators traveled separately to Sarajevo, where the bombs were delivered to them. According to Gabrinovics, Prinzip told him he had given bombs and poison to three other comrades, whose names he did not divulge.

Prinzip, who had previously denied that he had any accomplices, broke down yesterday and exclaimed: "I now regret my crime, for my comrades deserted me in a shameful manner. They should have thrown the bombs, but the cowardly scoundrels did not. Consequently, I revenge myself on them by betraying them. Leave me alone until to-morrow, and I will give more details."

Grabes has been arrested, and admits having received bombs and poison.

WITNESSES TESTIFY AT HILLCREST INQUIRY

Rescuer Says Fall of Rock Would Have Caused Explosion in Mine.

Hillcrest, Alta., July 3.—Three witnesses were called yesterday afternoon at the official inquiry into the mine disaster. Engineer Hutchinson gave expert testimony as to the working plan of the mine. W. Garton, a miner and rescuer, gave evidence as to the location and identification of bodies, and Harry White, of the Bellevue rescue gang, as to identification of bodies and the probable location of the immediate explosion responsible for the disaster.

The latter's theory is that the explosion occurred in room 23, in old No. 1 south chute, as it was there that the bodies most mangled were recovered. Judging from his experience in other mines, he considered himself justified in asserting that a falling rock in the Hillcrest mine would cause an explosion.

Mr. Hutchinson, after testifying as to the workings, was asked by Counsel Campbell as to the nature of the gas he encountered in the mine. Mr. Hutchinson said he believed the gas to be afterdamp, because of the effect it had on him.

ROBERT BOYD, SEATTLE RAILROAD MAN, DYING

Physicians Believe Well Known Official Cannot Live Longer Than Few Days.

Seattle, July 2.—Robert M. Boyd, general agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, one of the best known of the pioneer railroad men of the northwest and for more than thirty years a representative of the company in Seattle, is dying in the Providence hospital.

Following a consultation yesterday between physicians it was said he would not live more than two or three days.

Mr. Boyd was one of the first men to realize the great importance of Seattle as a gateway to Alaska. A brother and a sister, living in Toronto, are hurrying to Seattle.

The women among the inhabitants were attacked by the mutineers, and many of them were carried off.

Dr. Chase is No Stranger

In This Home-Receipt Book and Medicines Kept at Hand "All the Time."

There is no better safeguard against disease and suffering than a good cathartic medicine. In the great majority of homes Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are constantly kept at hand, because they quickly awaken the action of liver, kidneys and bowels, and cure the most common ills of life.

Mrs. Thos. Smith, Jamestown, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase is no stranger in our home, for we have two of his Receipt Books in the house. My father and my husband's father each had one, and I have been familiar with it ever since I can remember. It was only natural that we should use the Kidney-Liver Pills, and we found them so satisfactory in regulating the digestive system and curing the common ills of life that we always keep them in hand. Many a time these pills have saved me much suffering and prevented serious disease. We also keep the Ointment in the house all the time."

EMPLOYERS IN LONDON FIRM FOR OPEN SHOP

Efforts to Adjust Building Industry Dispute Remain Without Result

London, July 2.—The dispute in the London building industry continues, and many weeks have elapsed since the London Master Builders' association locked out 25,000 men by issuing a document wherein they asked that unionists should give a written pledge to work peacefully with their fellow-workmen, whether trade unionists or not, and that they should agree to a deduction of 11 from their wages if they broke the pledge by striking because a man refused to belong to a trade union.

At the outset the masters made the following demands: Monetary guarantee against broken agreements from the unions; men striking in contravention of the agreements to be penalized by the unions; a pledge that no trade union card inspection should take place on the works.

Since the dispute has been in progress two attempts have been made to bring about a settlement, but these have been rendered abortive, the men in each case balloting against the proposed terms. The first set of proposals emanated from the national conciliation board, a body composed of an equal number of masters and workmen, drawn purely from the affected area but representative of national interests from both parties.

The proposals contained a pledge from the executive councils of the trade unions involved that they would use their utmost power to enforce the strict observance of any future agreement, and the question of monetary guarantee was dropped. The opposition to card inspection on the works was made less objectionable by a provision that card inspection should not be prohibited except where the employed objected, but what is known as the disability clause, the clause pledging trade unionists, formed part of the terms of settlement. These terms were rejected by a ballot of the men, 23,481 being against and 2,021 in favor of them.

Shortly afterwards the affected parties met, and another set of proposals was drawn up and submitted to a ballot of the men. These terms represented a further modification of the masters' demands, the objection to card inspection being waived on condition that it was conducted by a workman, and that it did not take place during working hours. The disability clause, however, remained, although the words were altered to read:

"Employers shall be at liberty to give employment to any workmen on their merits, and no action shall be taken against any employer by the withdrawal or withholding of labor to prevent the free exercise of his discretion in this respect."

These terms were rejected by ballot by 21,017 to 5,805. Although matters of less importance have been associated with the dispute, the non-union question is at the root of the whole trouble. Prior to the lock-out twenty unofficial strikes against non-unionists had taken place in London, and the masters, when instituting the lockout, were determined to resist this spasmodic action, and to preserve the liberty of the individual against the coercive tactics of unionists. Both parties are obdurate on this point, and the prospects of a settlement appear as far off as ever.

None of the new demands which caused the lockout appeared in the last set of proposals, and had the men accepted them they could have claimed a moral victory, but apparently they are determined to sweep aside the disability clause.

This clause has been part of the working rules agreement between the masters and operatives for a considerable number of years, and the operatives contend that it is chiefly responsible for the weak position of the unions. They are willing to give a guarantee against stoppage of work, but only on condition that they have a counter guarantee that the masters will employ none but unionists.

HALIFAX AVIATOR IS DROWNED IN THE AVON

Joseph Purcell Sinks When Within Twenty Yards of Shore After High Fall.

Halifax, N.S., July 3.—Joseph Purcell, the Halifax aviator and balloonist, tragically ended his career yesterday evening by being drowned in the Avon river at Windsor, while making a descent from a balloon.

Purcell had risen several hundred yards when a wind carried him over the river, but not far enough to take him to the other shore. When it was seen he was likely to hit the river, boats were sent out. The aviator was a strong swimmer and immediately struck out to reach the shore, but within 20 yards from the Avon side he suddenly sank, supposedly from cramps. The body has not been recovered.

PASS AMENDMENT OVER ITS SECOND READING

Unionist Peers Recognize Necessity of Settlement on Home Rule Issue

London, July 3.—The debate in the House of Lords on the bill to amend the Irish Home Rule bill was characterized by general recognition on the part of the Unionist peers that some means of settlement must be found, and that the amending bill offered the only chance of accomplishing this. Lord Lansdowne, the Unionist leader, had already announced that it was necessary to find a way out of the calamity which threatened, and that, therefore, the Unionists would give the amending bill a second reading and introduce amendments during the committee stage.

The Duke of Abercorn, speaking as an Ulster volunteer, said that he looked upon the bill as the only loophole he could see for the avoidance of one of the most awful calamities. Lord Londonderry, chairman of the Ulster Unionist council, said the bill was a horrible one, but that he would support it in order to avoid civil war.

The Marquis of Salisbury announced that he would support the amending bill for the same reason, much as he disliked it. He expressed the hope that Lord Willoughby de Broke could be induced, in the interests of a settlement, to drop his amendment for the rejection of the bill.

The Earl of Halsbury, once the most irreconcilable of the "die hards," hoped he would too, for nothing could be more urgent, he said, than the necessity of making some sacrifices in order to avert civil war.

The attitude of the Archduke of York has lately secured the attention of a large body of opinion. A crowded chamber listened when he spoke late in last night's debate in the House of Lords. His Grace lately pleaded for all endeavors at making party capital to be dropped, and last night he reiterated his plea. Significant, too, was his closing reference to the House of Lords. The long history of that house, he said, might be drawing to a close, and he hoped that on its last pages might be written the record of sincere attempts to sacrifice some party advantage to give the country a lasting chance for honorable peace.

The second day's debate on the amending bill attracted almost as large an audience as the first, less interest being naturally attached to the discussion than on the previous evening, when Lord Lansdowne disclosed the attitude of the Unionist leaders.

The only ministerial speaker was Lord Wimborne. He stated that the bill was put forward, not as a settlement, but as an arrangement by which the fears of Ulster Unionists might be allayed. Apparently he contemplates a change in the six-year limit, for he said that whether the period was six years or longer, or an indefinite period, he looked forward to an eventual compromise.

Lord Dunraven, who has long been a prominent advocate for some form of devolution in Ireland, was unsparing in his criticism of the bill. He objected to "cutting up Ireland alive," and said that inextricable confusion would be caused by having one customs and post office system in the greater part of Ireland and another system in the excluded areas. He doubted whether exclusion would prevent a civil war. A much simpler plan, he said, "would be to drop these bills and ask Irishmen to confer together and see whether they cannot suggest a reasonable settlement of the question."

So many peers desire to speak on the bill that it has been decided to take a division on Monday. The committee stage will be begun on Wednesday, and the bill will probably be sent to the committee not later than Monday or Tuesday of next week.

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN.

The death of Joseph Chamberlain closes one of the most remarkable careers in the political history of the Empire. Since the time of Gladstone no other person exercised such a profound and sustained influence upon the public affairs of his generation; no personality more vividly dominated the country's statesmanship and policies. Although his dramatic inauguration of tariff reform had divided the councils of his party and contributed very substantially to its defeat eight years ago, the name of Joseph Chamberlain continued to be one to conjure with and the distinguished invalid in seclusion at Highbury remained a potent asset of the Unionist forces. A considerable part of the army continued to turn its face to Birmingham with something of the devotional spirit with which the children of Islam bend themselves towards the venerable city of their prophet.

Mr. Chamberlain's public life was so vital, dramatic and diversified, that when an adequate biography is written it will be a most engrossing volume, or series of volumes. He began his course as a radical, nay, even a republican. His programme was "free church, free land, free schools, free labor," and his vigorous enunciation of his policies excited widespread interest. But he went farther than the mere exposition of advanced political doctrine, and it was here that he laid the foundation of his greatness. As mayor of Birmingham he became the pioneer of municipal reform; the period of his chief magistracy saw that important city become the model of the world in municipal administration. The municipalization of the gas and water supply, the eradication of slums, the establishment of parks, the construction of modern public buildings, reforms in the financial administration, were among the products of Mr. Chamberlain's constructive statesmanship. He gave a new character to the system of civic government, not only in the United Kingdom but throughout the world. Had his career ended only with his mayoralty of Birmingham, history would have acclaimed him as one who had rendered valued services to his country.

He carried his radicalism and his passion for reform measures into the wider political life of the nation when he entered parliament in 1876. He became the leader of the advanced radical section of Mr. Gladstone's cabinet and espoused the cause of the laboring class with characteristic aggressiveness. He opposed the coercion of Ireland, criticized the occupation of Egypt and defended the Transvaal settlement after Majuba. He advocated free education, small holdings, graduated taxation and local government, and in this connection it should not be forgotten that those former disciples of Mr. Chamberlain who are pouring their wrath upon the devoted head of Lloyd George that the present Chancellor is merely following the path surveyed by the ultra-radical member for Birmingham thirty years ago. Those were the days when Mr. Chamberlain was the despised "Jack Cade" of the aristocracy; when he assailed caste and privilege with a virile fervor which made him the most hated man in the kingdom.

Then, a few years later, came the great schism, when with Mr. Bright, Lord Hartington and others he voted against the Home Rule Bill of 1886, defeating the Gladstone government and beginning an association with the Conservative party whose councils he was to influence so potently for many years. It was a peculiar combination with the party whose grandees he had so savagely assailed for years. However, he did not abate one jot of his zeal for reform and he had the satisfaction of seeing Lord Salisbury's government pass numerous measures in the interest of the masses.

The Boer War and the electric response of the dominions to the roll of the drum, enlarged the Imperialism which had developed in Mr. Chamberlain's mind with his administration of the department of colonial affairs. The radical statesman of former years, who had opposed the occupation of Egypt and supported Gladstone's ineffective policy in South Africa, became the prophet of a new Imperialism whose ultimate object was the federation of the British Empire. At first Mr. Chamberlain desired to see the consolidation effected through the contribution of the dominions and colonies to Imperial defence, but this was found impracticable in the absence of any definite scheme by which the overseas units would have a voice in foreign policy. He then endeavored to bring his great dream within the horizon of realization through a system of preferential tariffs, and embarked upon that memorable campaign for tariff reform in the United Kingdom which split the Unionist party in twain and resulted in its defeat in 1906. It also brought on the infamy which to-day has culminated in Mr. Chamberlain's death.

Although Mr. Chamberlain's fiscal revolution was abortive, although many of his policies in other directions have not been justified by time, his failures really by contrast add lustre to the successes which complete his splendid record. Through all his sparkling, varied career his sympathies strongly remained with the common people. In this respect he was a radical to the last. As a parliamentarian he was unsurpassed; certainly it is doubtful if for sheer debating power his equal has been heard at Westminster since the day of Disraeli. His platform style earned him many enemies, as it confirmed the allegiance of his supporters, but the illness which made him such a pathetic figure for eight years softened the asperities of former occasions, and to-day people of all shades of political opinion throughout the Empire remember, in their regret at his passing, only his long list of distinguished services.

INJURES OUR CREDIT.

The London Financial News of June 17 contains a report of the second annual meeting of the Dominion Western Lands Corporation, Ltd., a company numbering prominent people in England, who had been encouraged to invest in land at Aspen Grove in this province. This company had been led to believe that the Kettle Valley Railway would pass through Aspen Grove, and every map issued by the provincial government from 1911 to 1913 showed the line so routed. Last session, however, Sir Richard McBride introduced a measure empowering the railway company to divert its route, which amounted to nothing less than a breach of faith with the land company. This is what the chairman of the Dominion Western Lands Corporation, Ltd., said in regard to the government's action:

"I am most disappointed to report that, in spite of all our efforts, the British Columbia government supported the deviation, with the result that the Kettle Valley Railway abandoned that part of its line which was to have run through Aspen Grove, and which would have placed this district on the direct Canadian Pacific Railway line from Crow's Nest Pass to Vancouver. In the Merritt Herald of March 6 there is an article giving particulars of the second reading of the bill ratifying the agreement between the British Columbia government and the Kettle Valley Railway Co. for the change of route, in which Sir Richard McBride is reported to have said: 'When the Kettle Valley opened negotiations for the change of route the only objections were filed by the people of Aspen Grove, who were represented by Sir Charles Hildbert Tupper, who said that, on the strength of the promise of the line passing through Aspen Grove, large holdings of land had been disposed of in England, and that a government map showed a line in the vicinity of Aspen Grove. Surely no company would attempt the development of large areas of land in the interior of the province and sell property on the strength of a legend on a government map.' It is very discouraging for investors in our own dominions and for companies similar to our own, who have invested money in the purchase of land in British Columbia on the strength of what they believed to be a practical assurance by the government that a railway would be constructed through their property, to find that at a later date the government can, by a stroke of the pen, allow a railway to make a wide deviation without regard to the interests of third parties."

The Premier has done a lot of de-claiming upon the necessity for the maintenance of the provincial credit in Great Britain, but nothing could be more injurious to that credit than political sharp practice such as the one which provoked the comment we have quoted. It is not very comforting to see that his foolish reflections upon the maps issued by his own government and signed by one of his own ministers have been reproduced on the other side of the Atlantic. The British investor's confidence in this country is not likely to be strengthened by the Premier's implication that his government issues fake maps.

INSTRUCTIVE TRADE RETURNS.

An eastern newspaper says "Borden took principle into politics." He did—the noble principle of pandering to the greed and selfishness of special interests under the guise of Imperialism. Sir Robert opposed "truck and trade with the Yankees" because he was told to do it, was practically bribed to do it, by the affluent element in Toronto and Montreal who desire restricted markets in order that they may plunder the consumer under the sacred name of patriotism. The Borden government will have "no truck or trade with the Yankees." It sent Mr. Foster (now Sir George) to all parts of the earth to seek distant markets for Canadian products when the best market lay just across the border. The Minister of Trade and Commerce visited many countries with instructions to find and open up avenues of trade. He went to Australia, India, China, Japan, Korea (why did he overlook the Aleutian Islands?), and he negotiated just one reciprocity treaty—with the West Indies, one result of which was that Canadians had to pay higher duties on their imports from those islands. Another result is revealed in the returns of Sir George Foster's own department, that of Trade and Commerce. The returns of that department for the fiscal year ending in March last show that Canadian trade with the West Indies amounted to $4,354,549, a decrease of $1,662,251 as compared with preceding twelve months. Exports totalled $4,770,200, an increase of only $41,988. With the reciprocal agreement in force, there has been an actual decrease in trade of over $1,600,000.

On the other hand, our "truck and trade with the Yankees," the people whom we were adjured to shun having any business relations with lest the foundations of our loyalty should be shaken, increased amazingly. During the fiscal year, exports to the United States totalled $200,459,373, a gain of no less than $33,348,991 as compared with the preceding twelve months. Despite the refusal of the government to take advantage of the American efforts to let down the tariff barriers and give the Canadian farmer freer access to the market of 90,000,000 people, trade has continued to increase steadily in a year of comparative depression. Even with the tariff barriers still up against Canadian wheat and oats and fish, Canada sent last year to the United States wheat to the value of $6,851,624, oats to the value of $6,802,403 and fish to the value of $6,644,365. Canada sent animals to the amount of $8,518,012 across the line during the last fiscal year. The Canadian farmer and the Canadian fisherman may realize from figures like these what he lost when the reciprocity agreement was turned down.

MOTOR CAR AMENITIES.

One Vancouver motor car driver, at least, is sorry that he "took a chance." He is in jail, and has on his conscience the death of a fellow-being. Two others also "took a chance," and will have to answer a charge of manslaughter. There are a considerable number of people in Victoria who sooner or later will have similar charges to meet unless they mend their ways. There is no reason whatever for the desperate hurry of the drivers of many motor cars. Their time is not so valuable that they must needs take their own lives and the lives of others in their hands when they go forth upon pleasure or business. They easily can keep abreast of the times and with the demands of business if they drive at the rate of speed fixed by the statutes and the requirements of safety. Besides, if they will but try the experiment, for a change, they will find that there is much more pleasure in traveling at a sane rate of speed than in taking out of the car all there is in it. Consider the cases of those Vancouver men, one languishing in jail and the others facing serious charges, and do not "take a chance" which may land you in a similar or a worse predicament. Also remember the courtesies that are due to all who also have rights upon the highways.

Let us consider: How many years is it since we were told that if a Conservative government were returned to power the demands of Sir Richard for better terms for the province would be adjusted with a celerity that would make the heads of Grit obstructionists swim? We think it is nine or ten years. There has been a Tory government in power at Ottawa for nearly three years, and Fred Cook, a newspaper man, is coming here to try and adjust the differences of opinion on the subject which have developed between Sir Richard and Sir Robert. Probably by the time another general election cannot be avoided that commission will be all set and ready to consider the reasonableness of Sir Richard's demand for a readjustment of the terms of union. Sir Richard was a far bolder knight when he was a mere "commoner."

Major Leonard, the engineer who was going to construct the National Transcontinental Railway at so much less cost than his predecessors, has resigned. And the work he did will have to be done over again, because the Grand Trunk would not accept the line under the terms of its lease unless the work was carried out in accordance with the specifications. Of course the excuse is offered that the Major's work is done and that he is going upon a holiday, but the facts are too well known for any such explanation to carry weight. This is one of the charges of extravagance on the part of the Laurier government exploded with a loud report.

J. P. Babcock, fisheries expert of the McBride government, accompanies Messrs. Bowser and Ross on a political tour. The ostensible object of Mr. Babcock's trip is to study fish life; the real object is to show the ministers how to apply the gentle art of fishing for fish to the more strenuous art of fishing for voters. Mr. Bowser is provided with a "grag"-net and Mr. Ross with a "purse"-seine, and thus equipped a large catch-of fish—is expected. "Studying fish life" while on a political mission will be for all three, it is to be hoped, a very pleasurable pastime.

Our British brethren do not seem to be doing very well in sculling this year. Judging by the results in the Henley regatta. But what can you expect? Everybody over there, young and old, is playing golf now.

Getting old. Yesterday's Times was No. 1 of the volume beginning its 31st year.

CHOPIN'S GREAT FEAT.

The Canadian Courier.

Curious are the errors that creep into print. One of the most remarkable came to light recently in a corner of the weekly calendar of St. James' Square Presbyterian church, Toronto.

It seems that one of the prominent members of the church died, and it was arranged that a memorial service should be held in his honor.

The organist and choir-master decided to do something special in the musical line, and he could think of nothing better befitting the occasion than Chopin's wonderful Funeral March.

There was but little time in which to arrange things, and the announcement of the order of service was to be printed on the church calendar. So the choir-master had his secretary telephone the particulars of the order of service to the printer so that the thing could be done in time. Now it so happened that the secretary was a recent arrival from England, and her accent still clung to her tongue with exceeding tenacity. The printer had a little difficulty making out just what she meant, but he did his best. Imagine the smiles on the face of the congregation, sad though the occasion was, and imagine the chagrin of the choir-master, when the church calendar appeared in the pews with the promise, instead of the great Funeral March, the following: "A Few Remarks, by Chopin."

HUMORS OF LAW.

From the Docket.

We laugh at old Wouter Van Twiller, whose mode of deciding a case was to go by the looks and the weight of the books.

Which the lawyers brought into his place.

We jest at his manner of judging because it is queer in our eyes.

And the erudite way of our jurists today.

Shows up as decidedly wise. For now they determine on justice by means that are noble to see.

By a comma misplaced in a proof-reader's haste.

Or a failure at crossing a "t."

And having thus climbed to perfection, To justice sans error or flaw, Our laughter rings shriller at Wouter Van Twiller.

And his way of deciding the law.

Ceases Pastorate.—The First Unitarian church of this city will this month lose the capable services of the Rev. F. W. Pratt, who is terminating the period for which he undertook the charge of the church, during which time the denomination has been housed in a home of its own. Mr. Pratt, it is understood, may take an appointment in Virginia later this year. The church will be supplied for a short period in August till the arrival of a pastor who is already allotted to this city.

Big Travel in 1915.—Hayter Reed, superintendent of C. P. R. hotels, who has been visiting the city on one of his periodical tours of inspection, is authority for the statement that next year will be a record one on account of the San Francisco exposition. The C.P.R. is making preparations to entertain a large share of this business. There is no word of further expansion on the part of the system at present, the big work at Vancouver being the most important under way at present. Mr. Reed was accompanied to Victoria by his secretary, Mr. O'Dowd, who was in charge of the Empress hotel for a while during Mr. Jackson's absence.

Burglar Alarm Rings.—The burglar alarm system in the Union bank went off of its own accord last evening and drew a large crowd to the corner of Government and View streets, including all the police within several blocks in every direction, and there was a rush for the spot from all sides. Search failed to disclose any robbers and investigation showed that the alarm had commenced on its own account, as it did once before. The system is so arranged that anyone attempting to interfere with the vault in any manner sets the bell ringing and gives the alarm.

Seventh Troop Outing.—Seventh troop, boy scouts, in a very pleasant outing in Saanich, in charge of Scoutmaster Denny, Assistant Scoutmaster A. S. M. Grant and Patrol Leader D. Gregson. They camped on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Osler at Loveland. While there they gave an exhibition of bridge-building, signalling and first aid, took part in a sacred concert in aid of the building fund of St. Michael's and All Saints' Royal Oak and made many rovers the summit of Little Saanich mountain, the site of the new observatory, Prospect lake and Beaver lake. The troop goes into camp at Finlayson arm early next month for a couple of weeks.

City Planning Bureau.—Hon. W. R. Ross, in response to a request from the Canadian delegates to the international city planning congress, which was held in Toronto in May, has endorsed a resolution adopted by them in which they express appreciation of the attitude of the commission of conservation towards the work of city planning and the solution of municipal problems, and ask for the establishment of a special bureau of city planning and housing in connection with the activities of the commission, to act as a central body to encourage and co-operate with provincial and other bodies of the same character.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, July 3, 1889.

The annual picnic of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian society takes place to-morrow at the society grounds, Beacon Hill.

Canon Ellegood, of Montreal, arrived last night, and will leave to-day for San Francisco.

J. A. Mara, M. P., and Mrs. Mara, arrived in the city last evening from Kamloops.

On Monday water was turned on in the 16-inch main and the increased supply astonished residents on the higher levels. The valve was opened at Beaver lake on Dominion day by Chairman Coughlan, of the water committee, and Water Commissioner Summerfield.

BUSINESS INSURANCE

In a letter to a New York newspaper the manager of a talking machine company wrote:

"We advertise as a sort of business insurance, in winter and summer, in good times and bad, and our policy has made our produce famous the world over."

This advertiser uses the newspapers very largely and has secured splendid co-operation from local distributors.

Business is so good that his factory, even in the duldest season, is far behind in its orders.

Business insurance through newspaper advertising has made dull times something unknown to this concern.

He Rose Early.—That's why he got a pair of the famous $7.00 Dr. Reed's cushion soled shoes (stamped price) at Stewart's at $4.45. Don't let him beat you to it. Rise early too and be there at 9 o'clock. See page 13.

Discontinues Business.—Carrying out the promise made by Ald. Cuthbert when he was appointed industrial commissioner, the firm of Herbert Cuthbert & Co. is being dissolved so that the commissioner may devote his entire attention to the work of his new office. The business is being taken over by the Victoria Land and Investment company.

Annual Lake Hill Show.—The Lake Hill Women's institute is holding its annual flower show this evening in the North Dairy schoolhouse, from 5 to 9 p. m. Reeve McGregor, of Saanich, will open the proceedings, and will preside as chairman. The prize list is a long one, and includes a number of awards presented by the government for competition in classes for garden and wild flowers, table decoration and children's collections. An excellent musical programme has been arranged, and at the close of the proceedings at 9 o'clock there will be dancing.

New Provincial Superior.—Mother Mary Charles, the new provincial superior of the Sisters of St. Anne, arrived in Vancouver last week, where she was met by one or two sisters of the order in Victoria, who accompanied her hither on Monday last. The new provincial superior has come to fill the office vacated by Mother Mary Ves Cing Plais, who, at the expiration of her term of office as provincial superior, left last week for the Mother House at Lachine, and immediately on her arrival assumed the duties of her office. Sister Mary Hilda, of Douglas Island, Alaska, is also in the city, a guest of the Sisters of St. Anne, who will go into their annual retreat for ten days, commencing July 15.

Second Playground Festival.—To-morrow afternoon the playground children at Beacon Hill park will give their second monthly festival under the direction of Miss Ruth Jarvis and R. E. Crompton, the programme to commence at 3 and to contain exercises and games to show the usefulness of the playground. The events will be as follows: Snake relay race, boys vs. girls; Swedish spinning dance; skimming the snake; lame tag game; musical drill; dodge ball game; girls and boys; rabbits' game; Morris dance; grab ball, girls v. boys; Danish shoemakers' dance; and circle singing.

NOVELTY CYCLISTS.

Ranze and Newson, two clever novelty cyclists at the Variety theatre for the last part of the present week, kept the audiences in a state of excitement last evening. The male member of the team rides everything from a bicycle to a grindstone. Riding on a single wheel, he made people hold their breath as he skimmed around the stage. Their act is an exceptional one on account of the fact that ordinarily, it takes considerable room to manipulate a cycle, while this team is handicapped on account of the small space. They will appear at the above theatre again to-day and to-morrow.

The Wrong Page.—This is not the page that tells of Stewart's free offer to the ladies of Victoria. A pair of slippers for nothing and something interesting for the men, too, will be found on page 13.

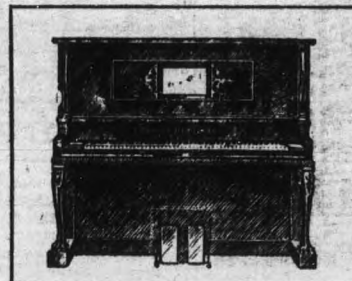

Timber for Sale.—The chief forester of British Columbia will receive tenders up to noon on July 13 for the purchase of a timber license under which there may be cut 448,000 feet of timber in the Kootenay district, north of Fort Steele.

Provincial Appointments.—The appointments gazetted this week are those of Robert Neil Campbell, Harper's Camp, to be a justice of the peace; Harold Austin Hines, Langford, to be a notary public; Viva Josephine Foxmaule Babington, to be a stenographer, and Richard Evelyn Mitchell and George Pilmer, to be clerks in the department of agriculture.

Battle of Bannockburn.—The last fortnightly meeting of the Ailsa Craig camp of the Sons of Scotland was made the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of Bannockburn. Rev. A. R. Gibson, chaplain, gave an historical sketch of the memorable battle, and later in the evening a musical programme was given which included songs and other musical numbers by Messrs. Mackenzie, Gardner, J. Milne, Jack Melville and the Dryborough family. The next meeting will be at 8 o'clock on Friday evening, July 10, in the same place, the real estate exchange rooms, Langley street.

Houseboat Trip.—One of the most delightful of all the excursions planned this summer by the Y. M. C. A. is the houseboat trip from Victoria on July 20, in personal charge of H. G. Beall, who will accompany the members who decide to join. The cost, provided at least twenty young men go, will be only $12 for each for the fortnight, including transportation. Captain Berquist has made the plan the more feasible by kindly offering one of his old sailing schooners. The vessel will be towed around to anchorage in Mill bay, which will be used as the base for many enjoyable excursions by land and water. Applications must be sent to Mr. Beall by Wednesday, July 15, and those who intend going must join the schooner at Sidney between July 13 and 20.

Boys Go Camping.—Yesterday thirty-three boys went out by motor stage to the Y. M. C. A. summer camp at Albert Head, where they had been preceded a couple of days previously by M. L. Bissell, the boys' secretary, who had everything in readiness for the guests when they arrived. The camp is on the property belonging to Mr. Whitty, and has numerous natural advantages. The bathing is excellent, there is a good beach, excellent boating and fishing, and the position is an excellent base for expeditions of all kinds. The boys are being trained in life-saving and swimming. Each tent has eight boys and a tent leader who will assist the camp director in making the outing as delightful as possible. Friday, July 10, will be visitors' day, when relatives and friends of the boys will be welcome at camp.

Beall, who will accompany the members who decide to join. The cost, provided at least twenty young men go, will be only $12 for each for the fortnight, including transportation. Captain Berquist has made the plan the more feasible by kindly offering one of his old sailing schooners. The vessel will be towed around to anchorage in Mill bay, which will be used as the base for many enjoyable excursions by land and water. Whiteley, acknowledging the receipt of $996.95, the sum which was collected in Victoria by the committee to add to the relief fund for those who suffered as a result of the sealing disaster this spring in which so many Newfoundlanders lost their lives. The Victoria donation has been forwarded to Hon. R. Watson, St. John's, Newfoundland, all over the world turn their thoughts homeward at the time of trouble. A committee has been formed in St. John's with Sir William Horwood as chairman, to look after the distribution of the fund. It is proposed that the distribution of the amount shall extend over a period of at least fifteen years, so that bereaved infants in arms now may be helped until such time as they are able to look after themselves.

A Story of the Real West

"DEAD MEN'S TALES"

AT THE ROMANO THEATRE, TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW

THE STORY

Tom Hopkins takes Blair, together with his family, and sets them up next door to him in town. Hopkins has been left a map of a gold mine by his deceased uncle with Blair, starts out to search for it. Finding it Tom stakes his claim, but that night when the two have lain down Blair empties the other's canteen and driving his horse off makes away with the map and the gold they have picked up. From lack of water and exposure the unfortunate Tom dies, but leaves a note written in his own blood, stating that his partner has left him to die after stealing his claim. Meanwhile Blair stakes out the claim in his own name and returning to town brings a large force of miners to work the stolen property, after telling Tom's wife that he has died from fever. A cow-boy comes across Hopkins' body and finding the messages rides to town with it. A posse is organized but Blair's wife, ill-treated as she is, goes to warn him of his danger, in order to gain her fresh horse he pushes her off a steep cliff and escapes. The days pass and the broken-hearted wife of Tom, who has kept Blair's little girl with her starts a boarding house. Eighteen years after a strike occurs in the mines and Blair is sent for. He stops at the house of his dead partner's wife and is recognized. Mrs. Hopkins' son bribes a Mexican to avenge his father's death but Blair struggles free from his bonds and is escaping when he runs into a crowd of striking miners. They are about to shoot him when Hopkins enters upon the scene and the crooked mine owner tells them that young Tom is the rightful boss. He stands with lowered eyes watching his daughter in the embrace of his dead partner's son.

PATRICIA WILL CARRY MANY TO BELLINGHAM

Princess With Holiday Excursion Will Have About 1,000 in Party

Bellingham residents are making great preparations to welcome the C. P. R. steamer Princess Patricia and her excursion party to-morrow, and hope to give the Victoria visitors a royal time during the few hours they are ashore in the town across the boundary. Letters received by Capt. J. W. Troup, manager of the B. C. coast service, from officials at Bellingham, contain the information that arrangements have been made to have the Patricia berth at the dock right in the centre of the town so that the excursionists will not lose any time in reaching the main streets, where the Independence Day celebrations will be in full swing.

The Princess Patricia, which is carrying the excursion under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the Connaught Seamen's Institute, will leave Victoria to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and between 4.30 o'clock and 5 o'clock the crack flyer will be berthed at Bellingham. The steamer is posted to sail on the return trip at 8 o'clock, which will give the party considerable time to take in the sights of the town and its celebration.

Second C. P. R. Boat There. To the best recollection of C. P. R. officials it is ten years since the last C. P. R. boat was at Bellingham. The Princess Patricia was there the first year she was on the coast. Bellingham residents have each year indicated their desire to visit Victoria by prevailing upon the International Steamship company to send the ship new here, and they have always patronized the trips to the capacity of the steamer. The people across the line, however, thought it was about time they had an "at home," and had Victorians call on them, so after many representations the C. P. R. decided to bring the fast steamer Princess Patricia from Nanaimo to carry a holiday crowd across the Gulf.

It is understood that there will be close to 1,000 people on the Patricia when she sails to-morrow. The Government street offices of the C. P. R. have disposed of many tickets, and with the fine weather which is prevailing, everything augurs well for a most enjoyable outing for Victorians. The Ladies' Guild of the Seamen's Institute hopes to augment the building as a result of the excursion.

CAIRNHILL ADRIFF IN SOUTH PACIFIC FOUND

After being abandoned off New Ireland by her crew with the exception of the captain, the chief and second officers, the fourth engineer and the steward, the steamship Cairnhill has been picked up and towed to New Guinea, according to a cable from Melbourne.

On March 31 the Cairnhill, bound from Stettin for the Southern Pacific, lost her propeller. The chief engineer improvised some rough paddle-wheels, which he geared up to the engines, but the ship was uncontrollable, and a week later all the crew left the vessel in three boats, except the five men mentioned above.

The boats got separated in a gale, but after a series of exciting and trying adventures, during which they suffered a good deal from exposure and privation, the crews of all three eventually met at the island of Rabaul, in the Bismarck archipelago, whence they got a passage on a steamer to Sydney.

The value of the Cairnhill's cargo, including phosphates, is about $350,000.

RAINBOW TO DRYDOCK.

To have some repairs made to her hull H. M. C. S. Rainbow will be floated into drydock next week. She is reported to be taking water, through some of her sheathing having become worn. She will be on the blocks for some days.

CALIFORNIA TRAVEL REMAINS VERY BRISK

Governor Sailing To-night From 'Frisco Is Taking Full Passenger List

Passenger travel south to San Francisco and other California ports still continues heavy, despite the fact that this is generally considered the off-season. In the past very few people have sailed out of Victoria at this time of the year, but the local agents at present are experiencing no little trouble in accommodating all the applicants who wish to make the ocean trip to the Golden Gate, San Pedro and San Diego. At 11 o'clock to-night the Pacific Coast steamship Governor, Captain Thomas, will clear for the south and will take to San Francisco, and the Hammond Lumber company about the same number to San Francisco.

Immediately after reaching San Diego the Hercules will return for the second raft. She is expected to be kept at the same line of work until all of the Benson rafts have been moved. The Hammond rafts will be towed from the river to San Francisco by one of its own tugs. The first to be built by that company this season will be ready to leave for sea soon.

The rafts to be towed from the river to California the next two or three months will contain from 60,000,000 to 70,000,000 feet of lumber. It will be about the same quantity as shipped by that method last year.

GIGANTIC LOG RAFTS TOWING DOWN COAST

About 70,000,000 Feet of Lumber to Leave Columbia in This Manner

Portland, July 3.—Belonging to the Benson Logging company, a mammoth cigar-shaped log raft, recently built in Wallace Slough for sending to San Diego, broke loose from its moorings at Wauna several nights ago and drifted on the sands. The tow-boat Henderson and Shaver, of the Shaver Transportation company's fleet, floated the gigantic raft after a hard pull.

The raft went adrift when the Henderson and Shaver and the ocean-going tug Hercules had made fast to it and were starting down from Wauna with another of the cigar-shaped rafts which had been constructed at the same point and which was owned by the Benson company. It is being taken to Astoria, and the Hercules will tow it from there to San Diego. Each of the rafts contains about 6,000,000 feet of lumber.

Eight or ten such rafts will be dispatched from the Columbia river to California between now and the middle of September. The Benson company will send four or five of the mammoth rafts to San Diego, and the Hammond Lumber company about the same number to San Francisco.

Immediately after reaching San Diego the Hercules will return for the second raft. She is expected to be kept at the same line of work until all of the Benson rafts have been moved. The Hammond rafts will be towed from the river to San Francisco by one of its own tugs. The first to be built by that company this season will be ready to leave for sea soon.

The rafts to be towed from the river to California the next two or three months will contain from 60,000,000 to 70,000,000 feet of lumber. It will be about the same quantity as shipped by that method last year.

RIVER SHIPS MUCH LUMBER

Astoria, Or., July 3.—During the month of June 24 vessels, carrying 23,244,893 feet of lumber, were loaded at the mills in the lower river district. Of that number 32 vessels, with 20,025,975 feet of lumber, went to domestic ports, while two vessels, carrying 3,218,918 feet of lumber, cleared for foreign ports.

During the same month 33 vessels, with 25,544,230 feet of lumber, cleared from up-river mills, making a grand total of 48,789,123 feet of lumber that was shipped in cargoes from Columbia river last month.

C. F. Earle, city passenger agent of the Grand Trunk system, has received word from the east stating that the time of the International Limited, between Chicago and Montreal via Hamilton and Toronto, has inaugurated a new service, reducing the time between the terminals by three hours.

It is also rumored that the time by the Grand Trunk between Chicago and New York via Niagara Falls will be shortened in the near future by about one hour and a half.

GERMAN GRAIN SHIPS BEAT BRITONS HOME

Winners Make Fast Runs; Longest Passage This Year 156 Days

Portland, Ore., July 3.—Of 25 sailing vessels of the grain fleet to reach the United Kingdom from Portland this season few have made better than the average passage of about 125 days. The German barque Wandsebek holds the record so far this year by completing the run in 109 days. A close second to her is the German barque Schurbeck, which was out but 111 days. The French barque Ernest LeGouvé holds third place with a passage of 119 days.

The longest passage of the fleet 's that of the British barque Thistlebank, which occupied 156 days in making the run from the Columbia river to Queenstown. Her long passage may be eclipsed by the British ship Langdale, which left for Queenstown 154 days ago, having sailed February 7. Several other of the vessels are due at their destinations in Europe and reports of their arrivals are looked for any day now.

In recent years there has been no near approach to the record for quick passages made from this coast in the late 80s by a sailing vessel in 89 days. That was in the days of the old clipper ships, when rattling passages were of frequent occurrence. In the early period of shipping from Portland sailors occasionally reported home in less than 100 days after crossing out of the Columbia.

Big 1914 Grain Fleet. There were about 50 sailing vessels laden with grain to clear from Portland this season, but many of them have been out but a few weeks. So among those on the high seas there is a possibility that one among them may make a showing that will come something near the record. But the old-time mariners in port do not expect it. They feel sure that the performance of the clipper ships of a quarter of a century ago will not be eclipsed by any of the sailers now in service.

Windjammers are going to play an important part in the movement of the coming crop to the European markets, as in the neighborhood of 40 of that class of tonnage have been chartered. Shippers are expecting that it will be about the last year they ever will engage in the trade from this coast, appearing confident the Panama canal will be the means of eliminating them to a great extent. It is admitted, however, that an occasional sailer may be engaged to make the long trip from here around the Horn to the United Kingdom, but it is expected to be an exception to the general rule.

AIDS TO NAVIGATION.

The Whiffen spit light at the east end of Sooke harbor, will be changed from a white fixed light to a red fixed light on July 15.

Before the end of the month a new acetylene beacon will be established on the San Josef Islands, Barkley sound.

WILL FIGHT PROPOSED LEVY ON PUBLIC LAND

City Will Resist Assessment of Waterworks and Plant Before Court of Revision

An important public principle is involved in the list of objections which will be taken up by the Saanich court of revision on the assessment roll on Monday morning. The city of Victoria is protesting against the assessment of its waterworks and parks, as "wrongfully on the roll."

"Last year the city had an unsuccessful struggle with Oak Bay municipality regarding the assessment of city property in that district, but the circumstances are somewhat different in this case. Though the Willows park is a public reserve, it is an enclosure for which admission charges are frequently made, whereas the Gorge park and Mount Douglas reserve are open to the public free at all times. Again, even though the waterworks at Elk Lake are out of commission, the ratepayers of Saanich are among the city's customers for water to the extent of half a million gallons a day from the Goldstream supply.

The city has ten acres for park purposes at the Gorge, valued at $40,000, and the Cedar Hill reserve of 350 acres, commonly called Mt. Douglas park, which is valued by the city at the low figure of $200 an acre. Saanich municipality is advised that there is no legal power to exempt parks, although it appears to have been done in past years without question. Recognizing that the municipal council is acting in contravention of the wishes of its electors in assessing parks which are constantly used by its own people, the councillors recently empowered the reeve to offer the city authorities a rebate on the taxes levied, on the understanding that the money should be spent on park improvements. Whether that compromise will be accepted is uncertain at present, but the city intends to resist before the court of revision the contention that the municipality has any right to place the parks on the books at all.

So far as the waterworks is concerned, the city possesses very considerable powers under the act of 1873 as to exemptions from obligations imposed on the ordinary land owner. Old residents of the district who remember the purchases made by Water Commissioner Summerfield in the late eighties to protect the watershed of the lake, maintain that the city owns considerable land which is not strictly for waterworks purposes, but it cannot be shown that it is profit producing in the direct sense. Till the present assessment commissioner dealt with the matter, no attempt was ever made to assess the waterworks within the municipal limits.

The decision of the Saanich court is of great importance because the pressure pipe line will pass through the municipality for a considerable distance from Humpback reservoir, and apparently will be subject to any ruling which the court gives. The waterworks distributing scheme which the municipality has just adopted, and which provides for the purchase of water in bulk at boundary points, necessarily anticipates dependence on the city supply from Sooke. Hence the situation is complicated by a number of factors.

SAT IN FOUR COURTS

Magistrate Jay Presided in That Many
Municipal Police Courts To-day,
Setting a Record.

Magistrate George Jay had the unique experience this morning of sitting in his capacity of police magistrate for each of the four municipalities which make up greater Victoria.

His worship is now duly appointed by the suburban municipalities in this capacity, besides sitting as a stipendiary magistrate in the case of offences occurring in the unorganized districts adjacent to the city. He has sat in three or four separate courts in a day occasionally before, but to-day was the first time he had ever sat for the four organized municipalities as a police magistrate.

The Oak Bay court was held in the city police court room to-day for convenience but will continue to be held at the municipal hall on Friday afternoons at 4 o'clock. The Esquimalt court will be held in the municipal hall in that municipality on an afternoon to be fixed. For the present the Saanich court will be held in the city, as heretofore, owing to the distance the municipal hall is out and the fact that for the portion lying contiguous to the city it is more convenient to come into the city.

There is not another instance in the Dominion where a magistrate sits for as many courts, so far as is known.

We are justified in saying that the result of the government being in office for eight years has been to bring about as much uneasiness, discontent and internal strife as can well be imagined. The only hope for the future lies in the speedy return of the Unionist party to power.—Hon. F. S. Jackson.

POPULAR WITH ALL

Men as Well as Women Are Availing Themselves of Advantages Offered at July Sales.

Sales week, although scarcely thirty-six hours past its inauguration, is proving all that was hoped of it, and more. The merchants are all enthusiastic about the results of the organized co-operation of the various firms to hold their summer sales all together rather than in scattered weeks throughout July and August, and in nearly every instance report that yesterday's opening brought a very large number of shoppers to town, the business of the day resembling the regular Saturday afternoon rush. With this for a fore-runner an exceptionally big crowd is anticipated to-morrow, when shoppers from the country districts will be able to avail themselves of the reduced Saturday fares on the V. & S. and the E. & N. railways.

Sales of any kind are popularly associated with a rush of women shoppers, but the merchant who deals in men's wear only is in a position to disillusion the public on this point. There are plenty of men, one merchant who has been engaged in both general drygoods and men's wear only says, who make a regular practice of waiting for the sales, and what is more, according to this informant, they know values better than women. As the women in most instances shop for the children as well as for themselves, and as their mode of dressing comprises a greater variety of articles of clothing they shop more constantly than the men of the family, and perhaps think more about the smaller savings to be made at sale time. But mankind is not really "out of his element," as popularly supposed, at a sale, and the shoppers of the next seven days may be safely computed as having a fair representation of both sexes in their numbers.

The crowds of shoppers who visited the stores to-day left no doubt that the combined sales had made an excellent start.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Joseph Clayton Charged With Throwing Stone Through Window;
Would Not Question Witnesses.

Joseph Clayton, who from his words and actions in police court this morning is either an I. W. W. or of the same class, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Edwards on a charge of damaging property. He is accused of hurling a stone through a plate glass window in the hardware store of Geo. Powell & Sons, 1411 Government street, on Tuesday afternoon.

He refused to take a trial before the magistrate, as he had a right to do, preferring a jury trial. He also declined to cross-examine the witnesses, but his reason was the absurd one that he did not think there was any justice in the court.

Roland H. Powell, a member of the firm, spoke of going to investigate a crash and finding one of his plate glass windows smashed and a large stone on the shelf inside. This window was about ten feet by seven, and worth about $100.

Ernest Badman, door-keeper at the Empress, saw the accused step out into the middle of Government street, take a stone out of his pocket and throw it through the window. He then walked away along the sidewalk.

Adolphe Fleischman gave corroborative evidence. "I don't see as it's any use to say anything," said Clayton when asked if he had anything to say. "There ain't no justice to be had here."

He was committed for trial.

Had Nervous Dyspepsia

With Frequent Sick Headaches and Much Pain After Eating—Dr.
Chase's Nerve Food Cured.

This letter is from a lady who gained 14 pounds by using the great food cure. It did wonders for her in improving her general health. She is enthusiastic in its praise, and refers to her neighbors as witnesses of the splendid results obtained.

Mrs. Susan Dobson, Spring Hill Mines, N. S., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write to you in praise of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was troubled with dyspepsia, and could not eat without suffering much pain; also had sick headaches frequently, and my nerves were in bad condition. About ten years ago I took a thorough treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, using altogether 21 boxes, and since then can eat anything, have been freed from headaches, and my health has been greatly improved in every way. I gained 14 pounds in weight, and feel sure I owe everything to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You may use this letter, and my neighbors can tell you of my condition before using this treatment."

There is a growing belief in some quarters that the strike is going to settle everything. The strike is a weapon from which trade unionists must never part, but it is not the only weapon.—Mr. G. J. Wardle, M. P.

LOST LIFE BY DROWNING

Weston Lee, Thirteen-Year-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lee, Fell in Ucluelet Harbor.

A sad death by drowning occurred at Ucluelet harbor on Tuesday when Weston Lee, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lee, who lived in Victoria until about three years ago, lost his life by falling into the water from a motor launch. The lad, who was in his thirteenth year, was in the boat with his cousin, Alma Lyche, two years his senior, and was steering when the tiller rope broke, and he fell into the water. What followed it is impossible to conjecture, as the lad was able to swim and should have been able to save himself unless some unusual circumstance made it impossible for him to do so. Although his companion dived into the water after him at once she was unable to help him, as the wind and sea combined to keep her from reaching him or giving him any effective assistance.

Immediately she set out to find help, but when the search party arrived it was too late to do more than search for the body, which was found after four hours work with the grappling irons lying in about forty feet of water. The remains were brought to Victoria yesterday, and taken at once to the parlors of Hanna & Thomson, from which place the funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30, interment to be at Ross Bay cemetery.

In the family plot. Rev. Dr. Clay will officiate.

The boy, who was born in Victoria, was well known and liked in Ucluelet where he had many friends in the Sunday school and public school, by the classes of which he will be sorely missed, and with the bereaved parents and surviving brother and sister of the dead boy the greatest sympathy is felt. His paternal grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Lee, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Johnson, both live in Victoria, as well as an aunt, Miss Lee.

If a man does not make new acquaintance as he advances through life, he will soon find himself left alone. A man should keep his friendship in constant repair.—Dr. Johnson.

BEES CLIMB INTO FOURTH PLACE

DELMAS BACK AT SHORT TO-MORROW

McHenry Held Tacoma Club to Four Hits; Bees Pounded Jones Out of Box; Score 4 to 1

Once more the Bees have taken hold upon fourth position in the Northwest league race. With McHenry holding the Tigers to four widely-scattered bingles yesterday the Victoria club hit Oscar Jones hard and often, winning 4 to 1 before a splendid crowd. The victory gave the local club the edge on the series and with four remaining games against the Bengals, the Bees secured a fine chance to pull far ahead of Portland. Sensational fielding featured last evening's contest. Fries and Calvo starting with "hit-robbing" clutches in the outer gardens, while McHenry had no less than eight assists. Umpire Wheeler got through without any bad breaks, but the fans criticized him for several of his decisions.

McHenry should have been credited with a two-hit game, and he should also have been charged up with a shut-out, but Kelly's wild heave to Lamb in the first allowed neighbors to cross the plate when an easy double play presented itself. In the seventh Butler tried to score on Brotemmel's fluky hit to Scanton, but the latter had the runner by ten feet on a nice throw to Hoffmann. In the eighth a pass coupled with two hit batsmen filled the bases with two down, but McHenry tightened and breezed Stokke, when a homer would have put a different light on the situation. As it was, Stokke sent one down the left field foul line that would have been good for a triple had it been fair.

Victoria started right after Jones, Nye's walk, Calvo's triple and Wilhoit's single netting two runs, enough to win. In the second, Scanton and Hoffman singled, McHenry putting Scanton across on a heavy blow. Nye's homer in the eighth closed the scoring, though the Bees kept pounding the ball, nailing up a total of thirteen hits and piffing a couple of bases. Calvo, Wilhoit, Scanton, Hoffman and McHenry turned in a brace of hits apiece. Nye, Moran and Lamb also hit safely. Tacoma shut off a couple of Victoria rallies by nice double plays, the Tigers handling their chances without the semblance of a boot.

Manager Delmas will get back into the game to-morrow at Tacoma, his injured hip being in good shape once more. Scanton will go to third and Lamb will be benched. Pope and Narveson are booked to work to-morrow's two games, Steele having been selected for the mound duties this afternoon.

The Bees leave to-day for a fortnight's road trip, and will return here on July 27 to play against Spokane. There was a proposition to transfer some of the Vancouver games here, but nothing has been done in the matter.

West will be ready for duty the end of this week, which will allow Stokke to go back to the outfield and Bender to be benched. The latter has not been hitting this week.

IMPORTANT MATCHES FOR THE WEEK-END

Incognito Men Will Play at Cowichan and Oak Bays and Albions Will Meet

An important match is booked for to-morrow at Duncan, where the Cowichan and University Incognito eleven will clash. The Cowichan club is one of the best-balanced teams on the island, and has only once been defeated this season, the Up-Islanders having played in splendid form in all their matches.

Oak Bays and Albions meet at the Beacon Hill grounds in a game that is equally important. The Oaks are leading in the race for the Island league championship, but the Albions displayed magnificent hitting power in their match on the holiday against the Port Couquiam eleven, and they will give a good account of themselves.

The schedule for to-morrow is as follows:
Cowichan v. Incogs, Duncan.
A Oak Bay v. Albion, Oak Bay.
B Albion v. Oak Bay, Beacon Hill.
B Restorer v. Navy, Macaulay.

One might easily gather from the ordinary reports that cricket in England is confined to the games played by the counties. Except in some of the weekly and provincial papers what is known as club cricket, in which the matches occupy only a single afternoon, is rarely mentioned. In many ways, however, Saturday cricket has an interest surpassing that of the counties. The famous bowler of "gentlemen," B. J. T. Bosanquet, is said to prefer club to county cricket, and in this he has the sympathy of many other well-known athletes. In county cricket there is a small and select band of players who are equally well known in the football and cricket worlds, and it is certain that their numbers would be considerably increased if one counted in those who play their cricket only on Saturday.

The postponed Island Cricket league match between the Victoria club and the Garrison will be played at the barracks on Saturday afternoon next.

The Five C's defeated the Garrison eleven by seven wickets last evening. Anthony's effective bowling being a feature of the game. He took eight of the ten wickets in Garrison's second innings, also batting in 37 runs for his club. Lamb, Fosbury and Wilcox also batted well. The Bishop of Columbia kindly umpired the match.

Owing to the Cowichan B team being unable to come down to play the Victoria B team, the match between the Garrison and Victoria A teams will be played on the Jubilee hospital grounds to-morrow at 2 p.m. The Victoria A team is as follows: H. G. Wright, R. M. Hedden, J. W. D. York, L. S. V. York, A. Martin, C. Martin, A. Booth, R. J. Horton, D. Gillespie.

Had asked waivers on Marty O'Toole

If the other National league clubs had not refused to waive, Marty O'Toole, for whom Barney Dreyfus paid $22,000, would have departed from the Pirates. O'Toole has been of little or no value to Pittsburgh this season. Waivers, however, were refused by the other clubs and O'Toole is still a Pirate.

It is again reported that Ty Cobb will follow Hal Chase and jump to one of the Federal Baseball league clubs. His latest escapade at Detroit has got him in "wrong" there and he is anxious for a change of scenery.

Vancouver, July 3.—Seattle batted Hunt freely yesterday and blanked the champions 6 to 0. Dell kept the hits scattered, and was never in trouble. Harstad replaced Hunt in the fifth inning and pitched a fine game, striking out the first five batters who opposed him.

Score— R H E.
Seattle 6 8 1
Vancouver 0 6 0
Batteries—Dell and Cadman; Hunt, Harstad and Grindell.

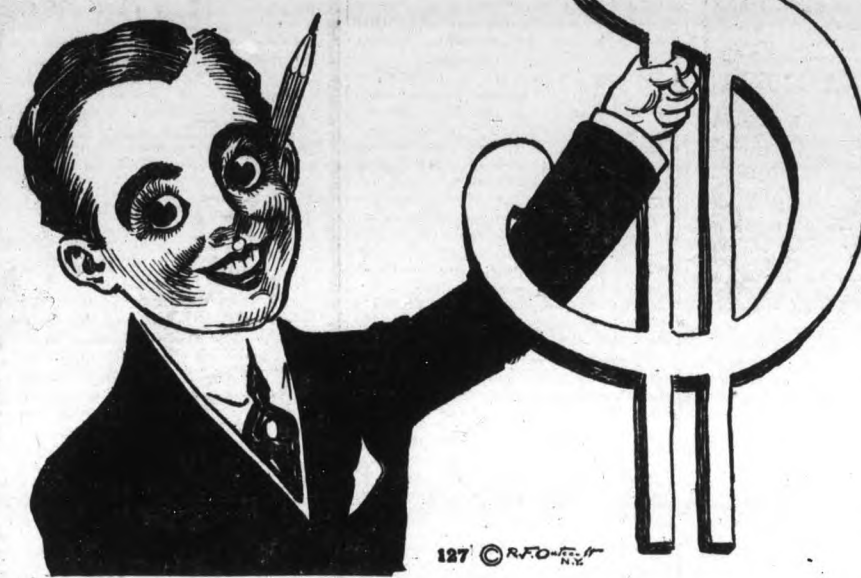

Spokane, Wash., July 3.—Six errors by Portland aided Spokane to win yesterday's game 8-1. Coveleskie was hit often, but kept them scattered.

Score— R H E.
Portland 1 12 6
Spokane 8 10 0
Batteries—Hanson and Murray; Coveleskie and Shea.

CUP-WINNERS FETED.

London, July 3.—Lord Wimborne and the members of the British polo team, which won the polo cup at Meadowbrook, were yesterday given a welcome-home luncheon by the Filgrins. Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who presided, spoke of the intense gratification felt in the British Isles at the return of the polo cup and paid a tribute to the true sportsmanlike spirit which had characterized all the struggles for it on American polo fields.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

McHenry Promises to be Season's Sensation.

Barring Wednesday's bad start, McHenry has showed more improvement in his last few games than any other twirler in the Northwestern league. The elongated Victoria slabster is rounding into unbeatable form. In the last two weeks he has had three four-hit games to his credit, and his hitting has made him a formidable artist with the willow. Delmas would like to get a line on one other good mound artist to fill out his staff. Narveson, Steele and McHenry have shown that they can be depended upon to take their regular turns on the slab and Driscoll has also twirled nice ball lately. Smith and Pope are both uncertainties. The former's wrenched knee bothers him considerably, while Pope has had a lot of trouble with his arm. Another winning twirler would make a first division club of the Bees.

French Team May Be Weakened.

The withdrawal of the German tennis team from the 1914 Davis cup international play leaves Australasia easily placed in the upper half of the draw, since by defeating Canada the Antipodeans can enter the final round without further opposition. The English team, logical favorites in the lower half, will have to defeat both France and Belgium before securing entrance into the final round to be played at Boston August 6-8. The Belgium players are not considered as formidable as the French team, which will be composed of Decugis, Gobet, Gernot and Samazeuilh. According to present information Gobet may not be able to play and should the former champion fail to cross the channel for the cup tie at Folkestone, the French chances will receive a severe setback.

DUFFY NO LONGER AMATEUR ATHLETE

Toronto, July 3.—Jim Duffy, of the Ramblers' club of Hamilton, Canada's premier long-distance runner, is no longer an amateur. At a special meeting of the registration committee of the Ontario Amateur union, Duffy's card was cancelled, and he was disqualified from taking part in amateur sports for the rest of his career.

Accepting money for a foot race at Kingston a month ago was the cause of Duffy's expulsion. From the evidence gathered Duffy took a small sum of money, and the evidence was so strong against him that he had not a leg to stand on.

Spalding's Official Athletic Rules and Official Handbook of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States has been published. It contains revised rules of the A.A.U. to date, including those for track and field sports, gymnastics, swimming, diving, boxing, wrestling, water polo, tug-of-war, steeple chasing, relay racing, throwing the javelin, etc.

PRINTERS AND ELECTRIC TEAMS PLAY TO-NIGHT

Beacon Hills must win one more game to capture the junior league championship. Last evening they were scheduled to meet the Junior Bees, but the latter failed to put in an appearance and Beacon Hills were awarded the game. Should the White Sox fall before the City Messengers, the Hills will not have to play off with the White Sox for the championship.

North Wards have won the intermediate championship, with Victoria Wests a close second. The Outlaws and Bapcos are the favorites for the Commercial league championship, although the Allied Printers' team with its ad-ed strength, should give a good account of itself.

Balcom will twirl in this evening's game at the Royal Athletic park, when the reorganized Printers' team takes the field against the B. C. Electric. On Sunday morning the Printers and Outlaw teams clash.

LET FLY WON STAKES.

Newmarket, Eng., July 3.—At the Newmarket meeting yesterday the Ebor Stakes, $5,000, for two-year-olds, six furlongs, was won by Col. Hall Walker's "Let Fly," who started an even money favorite. August Belmont's "Danger Rock," 7 to 4, was second, and His Majesty's "Markie," 10 to 7, third. The Princess of Wales' stakes, $10,000, one mile and a half, was won by Lord Cadogan's "The Curragh," another even money favorite. His Majesty's "Brakospear," 9 to 2, was second and Col. Hall Walker's "White Prophet," 100 to 8, third.

VANCOUVER WILL USE PROTESTED PLAYER

Trustee Lally Threatens to Give Series to Brampton; Local Officials

Trouble is looked for to-morrow at Vancouver when the final of the Mann cup series between Vancouver and Brampton will be played. Brampton won the first game by a single goal in an exciting finish, and now the V. A. C. team threatens to use Kendall, the professionalized player. Lester Patrick and Joe Gorman have been appointed to handle the game.

The V. A. C.'s dispute with P. J. Lally, of Cornwall, trustee of the Mann cup, is warming up. W. M. Clark, president of the lacrosse club, received this wire from Lally:

"If you play Kendall trustees will call upon you and Oppenheimer as per your bond to return Mann cup immediately. This is absolutely final and any further telegrams will avail you nothing."

"P. J. LALLY,
"Chairman."
President Clark immediately wired this message back to Trustee Lally:

"We received message unsatisfactory. We insist upon you giving us correct full report minutes trustees' meeting and evidence submitted upon which your finding against Kendall was based. Playing Kendall Saturday if this information not received before July 3rd."

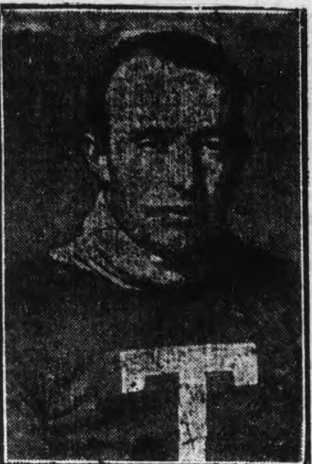

It is possible that the Brampton twelve will play in Victoria next week, officials of the Victoria lacrosse club being anxious to have the easterners play here.

Nationals won their seventh straight game in the Big Four when they defeated Quebec 17 to 9 at Montreal on the holiday. They have a big lead on the remaining three clubs and will come west after the Minto cup this fall.

BAILEY AND BURNS TO MEET AT 'FRISCO

Joe Bailey and Frankie Burns will meet at San Francisco on July 31, according to a telegram received by Bailey last night. Eddie Graney, the promoter, will stage the bout, which will be of twenty rounds, the boys to weigh in at 133 lbs. Vancouver promoters are after Bailey to meet O'Leary and they were expected to come over to the capital to-day to complete the match. Geo. Chip is a pronounced favorite over Billy Murray for their bout for the middleweight title, which will take place at 'Frisco to-morrow.

ALL-ROUND ATHLETE

HARRY HOLMES

Montreal, July 3.—Harry Holmes is developing into one of the best goal tends, either in hockey or lacrosse, in eastern Canada. Last winter Holmes had a lot to do with landing the N. H. A. championship, and later the world's professional championship for Jack Marshall's Toronto. This summer he is guarding the nets for the Rosedale lacrosse club of Toronto, and is performing brilliantly.

BAKER WINS HEAT.

London, July 3.—Homer Baker, of the New York Athletic club, won his heat in the British half-mile amateur championships to-day in 2 minutes 25 seconds. He was one of the American athletes entered for the British half-mile championships at the Stamford Bridge grounds, London.

Homer Baker also won his heat in the quarter-mile championship by four yards in 50 4-5 seconds.

The other winners of heats were Mitchell, London university, 51 3-5 seconds; Seedhouse, London A. C., 50 4-5 seconds; Jacob Herr, 50 5-8.

The four miles flat championship was won by the holder, G. W. Hutson, of the Surrey A. C. in 19 minutes, 14 5-8 seconds.

The putting of the weight championship was won by A. R. Taipele, of Finland, at 44 feet, 7 1/2 inches; H. Harbison, of the New York A. C., was second with 43 feet, 6 1/2 inches.

WON INTER-CITY RACE.

Tacoma, July 3.—Parsons won the inter-city automobile race at the Montanara Fiesta to-day. Time, 1:26:04 2-5. Brock was second, Latta third, and Staley fourth.

WINNIPEG EIGHT

LOST TO HARVARD

United States Crews Left in Final for Grand Challenge Cup at Henley

Henley-On-Thames, Eng., July 2.—Two United States eight-oared crews, the Union Boat club, of Boston, and the Harvard university second crew, were left to fight to-morrow for possession of the grand challenge cup by victories to-day in the semi-final heats over Winnipeg and Mayence respectively.

The race between Harvard and Winnipeg, which came first, was a hard one, and resulted in the best time recorded at this year's regatta, seven minutes flat. This has been beaten only on three occasions in the Grand Challenge cup since official time records have been kept. In 1891 Leander rowed the finals in six minutes, fifty-one seconds, and this was equalled by New College, Oxford, in the final in 1897. Leander in 1905 did the course in six minutes, fifty-eight seconds.

Winnipeg went away to twenty-one strokes to the first half minute, and forty-two to the first minute, while Harvard struck twenty to the half and thirty-eight to the minute. At the half-mile the boats were even, but before the half-way mark was reached Harvard had pushed a little ahead. The time was three minutes twenty-four seconds.

The Canadians then spurred and Harvard replied. Harvard then went in front, and at the mile led by three-quarters of a length. The Harvard men were rowing thirty-six to the minute, and retained their advantage to the end, although the Canadians made a last great effort to overhaul them.

C. M. Stuart, of Trinity hall, Cambridge, beat E. G. Williams, of the Viking Rowing club, by a length and a half in the first semi-final of the diamond sculls. His time was eight minutes forty-five seconds.

The Grand Challenge cup has left England only on four other occasions. It was captured by the Royal Naval club, of Ghent, Belgium, in 1906, 1907 and 1909, and by the Sydney Rowing club, New South Wales, in 1912.

Many other United States and foreign crews have tried for it in previous years. In 1895 Cornell was defeated in the fifth heat by Trinity; in 1896 Yale fell before Leander in the first heat; in 1897 Utrecht university succumbed to Leander in the third heat; in 1899 the Argonaut Rowing club, of Toronto, was beat by Leander in the sixth heat; in 1900 the Royal Naval club, of Ghent, Belgium, lost to Leander in the third heat; in 1901 the University of Pennsylvania went down before Leander in the first heat, and the Royal Naval club, of Ghent, to the same club in the third heat; in 1902 the Argonaut Rowing club, of Toronto, was beaten by Trinity in the fifth heat; in 1905 the Royal Naval club, of Ghent, lost to Leander in the final, after the Vesper Boat club, of Philadelphia, had been defeated by the same club in the fourth heat, and in 1906 the Argonaut Rowing club, of Toronto, was defeated by Trinity Hall in the seventh heat.

Dibble Beaten. Giuseppe Sinigaglia, of Como, Italy, beat Robert Dibble, of Toronto, American amateur sculler champion, in the second semi-final of the elimination sculls. The Italian won by five lengths in 8 minutes 33 seconds. Dibble collapsed at the finish and fell out of the boat, but was rescued.

James A. Patte, representing the Hotel Multnomah, of Portland, is here for a few days. He will meet the Victoria and Vancouver rowmen and escort them to the Rose City, where they will be quartered at the Hotel Multnomah. Reservations for Victoria rowing enthusiasts wishing to take in the P. N. A. A. O. regatta may be made with Mr. Patte at the St. James hotel. N. P. A. A. O. Entries.

TACOMA FESTIVAL.

Tacoma, July 3.—Opening the Montanara Fiesta, Tacoma's annual carnival, large crowds attended street shows and concerts yesterday afternoon, and last night about 10,000 persons gathered in the stadium for a display of fireworks and an historical pageant, "Siromboli," in which about 500 persons took part, including a ballet of 150 children.

To-day the inter-city, century and potlatch trophies automobile races were run at the new speedway. The

FISH WEIRS IN COWICHAN

Commission Hears Claims of Indians to Use These, and Sporting Fishermen to the Contrary.

The same matter which occupied the attention of the police court here in a case which was decided yesterday was before the special commission which is looking into complaints made by the Cowichan Indians. This is the alleged right of the Indians to take fish and game without regard to the provincial game laws and fishing regulations, based on a treaty or understanding reached years before Confederation.

It is claimed by the Indians along the Cowichan river that the removal of the fish weirs which they placed there, and the prohibition of weirs altogether, is a hardship on them and prevents them from getting fish. They also complain that the game laws are oppressive on them, and prevent them securing a proper supply of food.

The commission which sat yesterday in Duncan and heard the protest and complaint of the Indians consisted of R. G. Taylor, Nanaimo, fisheries inspector for the district, who acted as chairman; D. Neil McIntyre, deputy commissioner of fisheries for British Columbia; W. E. Diebhorn, inspector of Indian agencies; and Bryan Williams, chief game warden. The chiefs of all the Cowichan bands were present. W. H. Hayward, M.P., L. C. Rattray, president of the Cowichan Anglers' association; E. B. McKay, former surveyor-general; Rev. Father Scheelen, and others attended.

Chiefs who spoke claimed that the first governor of the colony had told them that the fisheries were to be theirs, and they said the removal of the weirs which their fathers and grandfathers had put in on the strength of this had resulted in a rupture of the good terms on which they and the white people had lived from that time onwards.

Mr. Rattray contended that the weirs prevented the trout going up the river, as was desirable, although this objection might be removed if the mesh of the weirs was enlarged.

Mr. Hayward urged that the weirs should be restored provided they would not interfere with the fish going up the river. He also strongly advocated that the Indians be granted the right to fish in Cowichan Bay for commercial purposes, and that they be granted free licenses in order that they might compete with the Japanese.

The members of the commission held a private meeting this forenoon in the office of Mr. McIntyre to discuss the matter and the evidence heard.

VAGRANTS SENT TO JAIL

Chinese is Given a Six-Month Sentence and Girl is Sent Down for One Month.

On a general charge of vagrancy, which included his having brought a white girl here from Vancouver for immoral purposes, Peter Gong, known to the police of both cities, was yesterday sent to jail for six months with hard labor.

Gong and the girl came over on the Sunday night boat and registered at a rooming house on Monday morning as husband and wife. Late that night they were both arrested, separately, on vagrancy charges. They were unable to find the cash bail demanded when they applied for a remand and bail on their appearance in court on Tuesday.

Detectives Murray and Macdonald, who made the arrests, testified that both were known to them for some months as floating about between this city and the mainland. The girl associated with Chinese and had no visible means of support. Gong told them he had a chop suey joint in Vancouver and was over here to buy chickens. He only had one dollar in his possession when arrested, however, which will not purchase much poultry at present-day rates.

India Boucher, or Brazel, (neither of which is her own name), the girl in the case, claimed to have a job in a barber shop in Vancouver, but her record was against her and she was sent down for one month, the magistrate remarking if he fined her some Chinese would be found paying the fine.

Gong found himself in deep water as soon as City Prosecutor Harrison began to question him about his career in this city in the past, especially about some crockery he took from Mrs. McKetrick's cafe and never paid for, and a quantity of furniture he got from Shore and Anderson without paying for. He denied having been in the city in 1910, even when shown a document with his signature, but the production of the police records showing that he had been arrested in April of that year, with his picture, induced him to change his reply to a plea of not remembering whether he had been or not.

In sentencing the man the magistrate remarked that he appeared to be no good and had evidently brought the girl here for an immoral purpose among his countrymen.

FAVORED BATHING SPOT.

Cordova Bay is More Popular Than Ever With Both Children and Grown-ups.

Of the several spots round Victoria beloved by children in their summer holidays none is quite so popular as Cordova Bay, with its long beach and wonderful outlook eastward across the straits. The early morning sunshine, which warms the sands in time for the earliest paddlers to enjoy the results, makes the beach one of the warmest anywhere along the coast, a recommendation not to be ignored when one thinks of the icy coldness of some of the bathing places round the island. Of course when one goes to the sea one expects to bathe, so that the facilities offered in this respect may be said to constitute the chief charm at Cordova. But the situation is delightful in many other ways, and as a base of fishing, boating and climbing expeditions it has endless resources. Every week-end finds the townsman in his dozens camped for the day on the beach, or scouring the shore in his motor launch. Bathing boxes are procurable at last, and a dancing-pavilion is being erected. There is more than one place where delicious refreshments may be procured, whether it be simple afternoon tea, ices, fruit or more substantial diet.

A SUBJECT FOR WONDER.

To the Editor:—You will have noticed that the Colonist has had lately a number of articles, presumably from the editor, calling upon the citizens to have faith in the future and assuring them that, if they have faith, everything will be all right. I agree with many of the articles. Others are too sanguine. Still on balance the people can take comfort from them.

To-day there is an announcement (on page 6, City News in Brief) that the flagstaff at the city hall is to be removed and we are informed that "the pole was almost rotted and its dangerous condition warranted its removal. Owing to shortage of funds no new pole will take its place." Now what are we to think? Is the Colonist right in its former editorials to the effect that everything is exceedingly well with Victoria or is it true that "the flag which has braved the breeze" for a good many years is to be furlled and forgotten for want of funds? "Save us from our friends!" Many a man on the London stock exchange who would deem it a waste of time to read any editorial in a local paper when inquiring into the city's solvency will notice that unlucky statement and, as straws show which way the current flows, will, perhaps, form a wrong impression.

Excuse my troubling you. I am A PERPLEXED CITIZEN. Victoria, B. C., July 2.

THE ORIENTAL "MENACE"

To the Editor:—"I am surprised" said a gentleman who was recently in Victoria after a long visit to the Orient, "that the people of British Columbia allow Orientals to hold land and house property in the province."

"Perhaps you are not aware that no foreigner can own a plot of land in either China or Japan; why then should you let natives of those countries own property in this province?" If you wish to be absolutely fair to those people you could pass a law that all Orientals in British Columbia shall dispose of their holdings within a specified time, say before the end of 1915 or 1916, which would enable them to sell without loss.

"You will find that this would be the only satisfactory method of disposing of the question of 'property representation,' which would arise sooner or later. Also, as this is a white man's country you could exclude all Orientals from owning real estate, whether native born or not."

Thinking that this matter deserves the serious consideration of the citizens of Victoria and the province in general, I write this short letter. F. WILLIAMS.

FINLAYSON ROAD SEWER.

To the Editor:—I would like to know where the council is going to find the money to send one of their number on that nice little trip back east to the convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities?

This sending of delegates by the council to one place or another is becoming such an important affair that no alderman dare say "no" for fear he spoils his own chance for a nice little trip at the ratepayers' expense. Will there be any corresponding return or benefit for the $600 or $1,000 spent in this case?

Out here in the north end of the city is a short street called Finlayson road, with about ten houses without sewerage. A few hundred dollars would sewer it, but we are told by the council that there is no money. Yet they can throw away $1,000 to give one of their number a nice little holiday trip. I would like to know which is the more important? There is some history attached to this street and district. The people that bought lots thought they would like to live in the open country, where they could see around a little, see the hills and valleys and fields and grow sentimental. "You know there is a poetic expression: 'The cattle upon a thousand hills.' Mon, its fetching."

Well, about the same time something else took place. The city built a reservoir on one of the hills, and made no provision to carry off the water if they should like to let it escape.

One of these valleys had some especially fine bottom land. Some former enterprising owner drained the place with a box drain, and put the land under cultivation. Unfortunately wooden drains do not last very long, and in this case as the wood decayed the drain filled, and some one put in a vitrified pipe culvert, not as low as the former wooden culvert had been, but still the patch was dry and under cultivation. But when the city officials had tested the reservoir and let those millions of gallons of water go—yes, go—where? Go where it liked, go where it could, no matter who was inconvenienced or whose garden patch was flooded. And flooded that garden patch has been since—a convenient place to get rid of dead dogs and cats, and a very convenient place for milk cows to quench their thirst on hot days. How can the citizens resist their milk when they do not know but what it comes from just such a locality? Yes, and some little mound out in Ross Bay cemetery may be the result of this negligence.

But Finlayson road must not be sewered under any consideration, as these lots now under water on account of civic blundering might possibly be drained into it, and some of these lots happen to be in the adjoining municipality. All sorts of excuses have been made by this very enterprising and economic council not to sewer this street. When the present sewer loan was under consideration we wanted Finlayson road included in the list of streets to be sewered, but it was cut out with other streets. Yet money has been found to sewer the others, but none of them was the menace to the public health that conditions in this locality are, to say nothing of the loss of the use of the ground all these years on account of civic blundering.

The main reason it seems to me is, the council is afraid some one having a lot outside of the city limits might benefit by it, though the same persons are suffering loss on account of a past civic blundering, and they do not take into consideration the amount of benefit it would be to the property owners on Finlayson road inside the city limits.

its, to say nothing of the present menace to the public health and the benefit it might be from a sanitary point of view.

Thus have our sentiments been wounded, our nasal organs shocked, our trust betrayed, and our purses robbed, all for what? Goodness only knows, I do not, but we are told that there is no money for that which would be a benefit, but evidently lots of money for the doubtful and for a little pleasure. With my compliments, A. R. SHERK.

IMMEDIATE ACTION NEEDED AT GORGE.

To the Editor:—Through the medium of your paper I wish to draw attention to the nasty condition of the water above the Gorge bridge. Following the heat of the past few days the water has become exceptionally dirty and unless some immediate action is taken to cleanse the bathing resort it will become little short of a death-trap. The waters above the bridge have never been really clean, but just recently they have become filthy and are dangerous to swimmers.

Steps should be taken at once to prevent all sewerage from entering the Gorge from the residences along the Victoria Arm. If the Gorge is to be known as a bathing resort, then it is certainly up to some one to see that it is kept in the best possible state to preserve the health of swimmers. Owing to the narrowness of the Gorge the water above the bridge does not empty out into the Arm on every tide.

Last year it was recommended that a small canal be cut through from the head of the Gorge to Esquimalt harbor and thereby give the waters of Portage Inlet an outlet. This, however, would prove a costly job. It seems that if the Gorge was widened some of the difficulty would be overcome. Part of the point on the south side of the bridge could be blasted away and the big rock in the centre of the Gorge removed. This would remedy matters a great deal. If the weeds and oyster beds above the bridge were cleaned out the filth would not accumulate there in such quantities.

The one main thing, however, is that all sewerage into the Gorge should be stopped. Money, and considerable of it, may have to be expended in cleaning out the Gorge, but if the health of the community is to be protected it is imperative that the work should be done immediately.

Great July Sales by Victoria Merchants Now On—

JOS. CHAMBERLAIN DEAD AFTER ACTIVE CAREER

Queen Victoria came to the throne. Although a Londoner by birth, it was in Birmingham that his large wealth and his political reputation were gained. He went to Birmingham in his 18th year to join his cousin, Joseph Nettleford, in developing a patent for the making of pointed screws. The firm became known the world over in a few years.

On the death of his father in 1874 Mr. Chamberlain had made a sufficient fortune to retire, and he devoted himself entirely to local politics. He was chairman of the school board, and finally mayor in 1873, being elected three times in succession. His entry into parliament was a reversal of traditions. Members were at first surprised that this young screw manufacturer from Birmingham knew how to dress. The arrival into what was regarded as a select club of a man educated at University college, with a profound ignorance of sport and no training but a purely business one, was an innovation among the governing classes, and it was said that he was suited to the task of governing a parish rather than legislating for an empire.

Yet he achieved cabinet rank in four years, although some pressure had to be put upon Mr. Gladstone to appoint him president of the board of trade. In 1885 he was president of the local government board. Mr. Chamberlain was an opponent to coercion, and had formulated the celebrated scheme for settling the Irish peasants on their land, but his repugnance to Parnellism, and his inability to follow Mr. Gladstone's proposal for a separate parliament in Dublin, led to his resignation on March 27 of that year. About this time he added to his reputation considerably as one of the plenipotentiaries at the conference on the fisheries dispute with the United States.

Some surprise was caused by his appointment in 1895 to what was then regarded as the minor post of colonial secretary by Lord Salisbury. In 1897 and for the next two years he was Lord Rectory of Glasgow university. This was the year of the Workmen's Compensation act and the conference of colonial premiers. During his political career Mr. Chamberlain was closely identified with Liberal Unionism, and no man was more responsible than he for the strength and vitality that characterized Liberal Unionism between 1886 and 1892. He was the life of its organization in parliament, and in the country during those years. He overtopped Devonshire and Goshen, Bright and Lord James of Hereford.

Of Mr. Chamberlain's personality the best known sides were his love for orchids and his devotion to tobacco. His tastes were domestic. He often described himself as one of the worst athletes in England. Whatever the advantage to the British nation may be of the causes he fought for, he was unquestionably a fighter. Parliament was his hobby and his recreation, as well as his work, and his industry was immense. All his life he was a Unitarian.

Joseph Austen Chamberlain, his eldest son, was born of his first wife in 1863. He entered parliament in 1892. He has been civil lord of the admiralty, financial secretary to the treasury, postmaster-general, and in 1903 was appointed chancellor of the exchequer. He married Miss Dundas, daughter of an officer in the British army.

It is not generally known that Joseph Chamberlain had by his first two wives another son and four daughters, all living, except a married daughter, Mrs. Richards, who died in 1906, leaving a daughter.

HIS HOME CITY ONLY PAPER WITH THE NEWS

London, July 3.—The great London newspapers were beaten to-day on one of the biggest public interest news happenings of the year, the death of Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain. Although he passed away at 10.30 o'clock last night the only newspaper in the United Kingdom which published the fact this morning was the Daily Mail of Birmingham, the statesman's home city.

NORTH BAY PEOPLE HURT IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

One of Victims Dies Two Hours After Accident Which Occurred Last Night.

North Bay, Ont., July 3.—David Morland, a real estate agent, last night took a party out in his automobile, his companions being his partner, J. A. Kinsella, and Mrs. John Billington, of North Bay, and the Misses Morriset and Eva Wright, of Mattawa. A tire blew out and the machine slewed. In bringing it back Mr. Morland threw the wheel too far over and the brake jammed and the party was piled in the ditch.

Miss Morriset died in two hours. Mrs. Billington has several broken ribs, Mr. Kinsella has been sent to Toronto for treatment by a specialist, and Mr. Morland has internal injuries.

CHICAGO UTILITIES CONTROLLED BY SIX

Commissioner Urges Investigation to Ascertain if City Suffers Under Conditions.

Chicago, July 3.—By means of interlocking directorates, control of public utilities in Chicago and the surrounding states has become centralized in the hands of six men, according to a report made public to-day by Montague Ferry, Chicago commissioner of public service.

In his report Mr. Ferry indicated the close relationship shown among public service corporations may constitute a grave menace to the public, and urged a further investigation by the state public service commission to determine whether the city suffers by reason of the centralized control.

BODIES OF THREE ARE DISCOVERED IN SWAMP

Man Supposed to Have Killed Wife and Mother-in-Law and Then Shot Himself.

Atlanta, Ga., July 3.—The bodies of S. F. Bennett and two unidentified women were found in a swamp at East Point, a suburb of Atlanta, early to-day. Wounds indicated that all three had been shot. The bodies of the women were covered with brush, while that of Bennett lay in the open a few yards away.

According to the police there were indications that Bennett killed the two women with a shotgun and after covering their bodies with brush, fastened the gun to a stump, stood before it and discharged it with a twig.

While the women have not yet been identified, it is believed they were Bennett's wife and mother-in-law. Bennett was last seen on Thursday. He formerly resided at Logansville, Ga.

ART TREASURES AND MANSION DESTROYED

Belfast, Ireland, July 3.—An arson squad of suffragettes to-day burned Ballymenoch, a fine mansion near Holywood. The house contained many priceless art treasures, all of which were destroyed.

Ballymenoch was the residence of the late Sir Daniel Dixon, lord mayor of Belfast for many years and a member of parliament for some time. The militants left the usual evidences of their presence.

TWO FRENCH AVIATORS KILLED BY HIGH FALL

Rheims, France, July 3.—Corporal Gabriel Godefroy, of the French army aviation corps, was killed, and Corporal Emile Mirat fatally injured by a fall of 800 feet in a monoplane of which they had lost control.

FOUR BODIES RECOVERED.

Quebec, July 3.—Diver Chisengon, of Dr. Witherspoon's diving crew, recovered four more bodies from the Empress wreck yesterday, two men and two women. One of the women had jewels on her fingers, otherwise, owing to the condition of the bodies, there would be but slight chance of identification.

BUY A TITLE? HERE'S THE LIST.

German Deputy Prints "Honor Price Catalogue."

Dr. Liebknecht, the Socialist deputy, Berlin, publishes in the Vorwarts, a "scale of prices" at which, he says, "honors" in Prussia are to be obtained. This is the list:

Red Eagle Order of the Fourth Class, $2,000 to $5,000.

"Commercial Councillor," through ordinary channels, $12,500.

"Commercial Councillor," if the granting of the title is accelerated, $15,000. This title is $2,500 cheaper in Hesse, Baden, Coburg and other minor states.

"Commission Councillor," $6,250. By "haggling" this sum may be reduced to $5,000.

"Prussian Professor," $6,250.

"Court Purveyor" to the Kaiser or the Kaiserin, $3,750.

"Court Purveyor" to the Crown Prince or the Crown Princess, $3,000.

This sum can be reduced by bargaining to $2,500.

"Chamber Singer" (depending on the state), $1,250 to $2,500.

"Comul," "Comul-General" to foreign states, depending on the size and wealth of the state, $2,500 to $7,500.

Elevation to the Prussian nobility, with the prefix "von," $75,000 to $100,000.

Elevation to the Prussian nobility, with the prefix "von," in Coburg, $62,500.

Dr. Liebknecht says that the method of procedure in obtaining titles is to have a rendezvous at a little cafe near Berlin Castle, where one meets a woman who escorts the aspirant to honors to an official of the private household of the Kaiserin.

Nothing is impossible to industry.—Latimer.

FAIRFIELD ROAD PAVING DISCUSSED

Owners Lay Views Before Streets Committee Sewerage Tanks Ready

Principal of the issues before the meeting of the streets committee of the city council this afternoon was the question of proceeding with the widening of Fairfield road, from Dallas road to Fowl Bay road. On Monday evening petitions were read to the city council from the owners protesting against the work proceeding. This course came as a surprise in view of the fact that the city had already paid out various sums for expropriations and held an arbitration in the Bagshaw case. The fact that the city is a large property owner on the road in this section, as Ross Bay cemetery about on the road, places the case in a somewhat different category from other trunk thoroughfares.

Objection is particularly taken to the amount of the assessment. It appears that it will cost some $13.60 per front foot and the owners want to know how that large figure is reached. Therefore to talk the subject over the aldermen agreed to meet a deputation from the owners to-day, and endeavor to change the attitude of the majority who are against the work continuing.

It seems to be the opinion of owners that the figure set out in the engineer's estimate is more of an estimate than the actual sum which the work is likely to cost. Therefore some explanation is asked as to the method by which that total was reached. Several matters affecting paving were on the programme for discussion at this afternoon's meeting.

Prior to the streets committee meeting, the mayor and those aldermen who are members of the police commission and of the special jail committee, and Commissioner Powell further considered the plans of J. C. M. Keith for the new Figgard street jail. One meeting on the subject has already been held this week on the subject.

The forms can now be removed from the Cecilia street tanks, built in the ravine near Washington avenue as part of the northwest sewer. These tanks are for handling the low level sewerage in connection with the scheme, and will raise it to the high level for transmission by gravity through Victoria.

West and Esquimalt. The tank is built in three sections, so that one may be used at first, the others being available as necessity arises. It cost about $14,000. Electric pumps will be installed at the dry chamber for raising the sewerage.

Plans are also ready for the siphon across Selkirk water, which will be connected eventually with the tunnel now being pierced at Sunnyside, Victoria West.

The pressure pipe line from Humpback reservoir will pass alongside the tanks at Cecilia street, as it turns off the Gorge road at Oliver street, proceeds by Cecilia to Washington avenue, and thence to Burnside road. The trench has been dug along; these streets, and lengths of riveted pipe are waiting to be laid.

CITY PLANNING.

When we read of the glories of Babylon, Rome and Athens, and other great cities of the far past, we cannot help thinking that city planning is not exactly a new idea. Our civic rulers would have us think so. The Japanese practiced it more than a thousand years ago, when the city of Uda (now Kyoto) was laid out by the Emperor Kammu. It had a main avenue nearly three hundred feet wide, which bisected the city from north to south. Nine wide streets, running east and west, were numbered Ichijo, Nijo, Sanjo (First avenue, Second, Third, etc.). These varied in width from 30 to 160 feet. There were altogether 38 streets running east and west, and a similar number north and south, and the city was divided into a chess board of 1,216 squares, each 400 feet square.

The idea was known in Europe at least 250 years ago. When Sir Christopher Wren was consulted after the Great Fire of London, in 1666, he suggested a system of sixty feet streets radiating from a central plaza, which should contain the exchange. The buildings were to be built in the Roman style, with double porticos, and all churchyards and "all trades that use great fires or yield noxious smells" were to be placed out of the town. Of course the idea was too sensible to be adopted without a little consideration, and it is only within the last fifty years that London has taken the matter up seriously.

Washington was planned and built on model lines, in accordance with the plan drawn up in 1791. Paris took herself in hand between 1852 and 1870 at a cost of $2,500,000; Rome imitated her excellent example in 1883; Vienna, Budapest, Berlin, and, in fact, all the principal European and American cities are doing the same.

So far, Montreal is not quoted in the list at all. There are private societies that are doing good spade-work, but so long as the powers that be are supine, the societies are just digging valiantly in a quicksand.—Montreal News.

Youth is the preserver for the race of heroism, of illusion, and of every good old earthy fashion.—Mr. W. D. Howells.

Why that pain, when Blue-jay would stop it instantly?

Why have a corn, when Blue-jay would remove it in two days?

Why that discomfort, when millions of people could tell you a way to get rid of it?

These are the facts: Blue-jay is applied in a jiffy. And from that instant all pain is stopped.

Then, while you work or sleep or play, Blue-jay undermines the corn. In two days you can lift it out, without any pain or soreness.

Think how easy, how simple.

While you pare corns, or doctor them in other petty ways, Blue-jay is taking out a million corns a month.

It is simply folly, in these modern days, to suffer from a corn. A single test will prove this.

LAW STUDENTS' ANNUAL

Handsomely Bound Volume Contains Interesting Review of Year's Activities.

The Victoria Law Students' Society Year Book for 1914, an interesting and very nicely-bound publication, has made its appearance. It is illustrated with good photographs of Hon. Gordon Hunter, chief justice of British Columbia, W. J. Bowser, attorney-general, and other prominent members of the profession and the society.

This edition is of peculiar interest as being the initial number of the annual of the Law Students' society of Victoria. There is little doubt that the optimistic hope expressed in the editorial "that this issue will be favorably received" will be gratified and that the student body will be encouraged to continue the annual in subsequent years.

The publication contains material of an interesting character including a resume of the lectures, debates, athletics, mock parliament, banquet and special articles on the history of the society and biographies of all the present members.

To Ward Off Summer Complexion Ills

To keep the face smooth, white and beautiful all summer, there's nothing quite so good as ordinary mercolized wax. Oily, freckled or discolored skin, so common at this season, is gently absorbed by the wax and replaced by the newer, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, the latter being applied at bedtime and washed off mornings. Creams, powders and rouges, on the other hand, are apt to appear more conspicuous than usual these days of excessive perspiration. Just get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store and use like cold cream. This will help any skin at once, and in a week or so the complexion will look remarkably youthful and healthy.

Sun, winds and flying dust often cause squinting and other contortions which make wrinkles. You can quickly get rid of every wrinkle, however produced, by using a harmless face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in 1 pt. witch hazel.

HUMAN PROCESSION

Happy and free from care, with all the exuberance of a lad of his age, Prince Olav Alexander Edward Christian Frederick of Norway, heir to the throne of the Norsemen, celebrated his eleventh birthday yesterday. Thousands of loyal royalists joined in the festivities of the day, but for his royal parents the celebration will be tinged with sadness. Personally King Haakon VII, who was elected to the crown in 1905 when Norway separated from Sweden, is not unpopular, but the growth of democratic sentiment in the Scandinavian country has resulted in his reduction to the position of a mere figurehead, devoid of all real power. And little Olav, heir to the throne and also heir to trouble, occupies the unenviable position of one whose death would be welcomed by many people. He is the only son of the king and queen, and Norwegian republicans believe that the death of Haakon without an heir would result immediately in the establishment of a republic. Leaders of the party of democracy have even gone so far as to give public expression to this view in a parliamentary act.

The philosophy of anarchism makes no appeal to the Norwegian temperament and intellect, and Norwegian republicans, although socialistic in tendencies, are opposed to violence and in favor of an orderly and peaceful revolution, to be achieved with ballots rather than bullets. So far as the leaders and rank and file of the republicans are concerned, little Olav is quite safe. Yet in every land there are insane fanatics, and the fear that one of these may attempt to take the life of the prince is constantly in the minds of his parents. The queen has often been quoted as expressing a desire to leave the throne and return to England and private life.

Haakon VII, before his election to the Norwegian throne, was Prince Charles of Denmark, the second son of the late King Frederick VIII. In 1896 he married Princess Maud, the third daughter of the late King Edward VII. Their son was born on July 2, 1903, and was christened Alexander Edward Christian Frederick. When his father was elevated to the throne, the baby prince, then in his third year, was given the good old Norse name of Olav, which has been borne by so many great rulers of the North.

The first Olav, or Olaf, to rule over Norway lived in the tenth century. He introduced Christianity into the country, but his fanatical cruelty in forcing his subjects to adopt the new faith, and his bloody persecutions of those who clung to the ancient religion of the Norsemen, did not make him an admirable character. The tyrant was slain in battle, and was succeeded by his son, Olav II, the Saint. This monarch, honored as Norway's patron saint, was opposed by powerful enemies. Next year the Norwegians will celebrate the 900th anniversary of St. Olav's triumph and his accession to the throne. He was fiercely zealous in the diffusion of Christianity, although not so cruel in his methods as his father had been. The adherents of the old faith at length revolted, and Olav was driven from the country. Canute ascending the throne, he returned and was killed in battle. The illegitimate son of the Saint then contested the throne and reigned as Magnus I. Olav III, who reigned in the eleventh century, was a pacific and progressive monarch, and the founder of Bergen. Olav V. was the last to bear the name as ruler of independent Norway, for

SCRAP BOOK

Bicentenary of Christopher Gluck,
Grand Opera Composer.

Music lovers on both sides of the Atlantic owe a debt of gratitude to Christopher Willibald Gluck, the celebrated German composer of classic grand opera, the 200th anniversary of whose birth was celebrated yesterday in his native Germany and his adopted Paris. It is not often that Frenchmen and Germans agree about anything, but they are in thorough accord in honoring the memory of the composer of "Iphigenia in Aulis" and other immortal operas. Gluck's works have stood the test of time, and some of them have lately been produced in the opera houses of several American cities as well as in Europe.

Weidenwang, in the Upper Palatinate, was the birthplace of the great composer. He was the son of a lowly gamekeeper employed on the estate of Prince Lobkowitz, a Bohemian nobleman. Like most composers, Gluck early gave manifestations of the possession of a genius for music. This came to the attention of the prince, and when Christopher was 18 his patron sent him to Prague, and later to Vienna, to study under the best masters. The nobleman treated the gamekeeper's son as a friend and an equal, and introduced him into the best society.

At Vienna Gluck became acquainted with Prince Melzi, an Italian noble, who invited him to Milan, where the fortunate youth was placed under the care of one of the greatest music teachers of Italy. It was there that he began to compose operas, and before he was 30 he had no less than eight operas to his credit, all of which were performed in Italian cities with fair success.

Upon leaving Italy Gluck went to London, but for some reason he met with scant appreciation in England, and soon he left for Paris. In the French capital he became acquainted with the French school of classic opera, and this gave his musical bent the right direction. His first classic opera, "Orpheus and Euridice," was produced in Vienna, where it attracted favorable attention. Gluck then returned to Paris, which was his model, and the libretto was written by Bailly du Rollet, a classical scholar who was in full sympathy with Gluck's ideas.

At Vienna Gluck had had as his pupil Marie Antoinette, and when the composer settled in Paris the dauphiness became his enthusiastic patron. "Iphigenia" was given its first performance at the Academy of Music in Paris in 1774, and was applauded by an audience which included some of the foremost men and women of France. The success of the opera was overwhelming, and Gluck became the lion of the hour in fashionable Paris. Of more worth was the appreciation and admiration expressed for the composer by Jean Jacques Rousseau and other literary celebrities of the period. Spurred on by his achievements, Gluck ruined his health by overwork, coupled with the social demands occasioned by his popularity in court circles. After an attack of apoplexy he ceased his labors and returned to Vienna, where he lived quietly until his death in 1787.

Yesterday was "Zeppelin Day," commemorating the first trial of the Zeppelin airship 14 years ago. Count Zeppelin's pioneer aircraft carried five persons on its trial trip over Lake Constance, and traveled at great speed in any direction desired. Since then the inventor has built nearly a score of airships, and, despite occasional tragic accidents, his air-craft have proved their superiority to all others of their type.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

Thirty-one men in a crude little boat proceeded slowly up the silent St. Lawrence on a July day in 1608. Thirty-and-one, but the one was Champlain, and by his genius that voyage, otherwise so insignificant, became the starting point in the history of the settlement and conquest of a mighty land. On the third of July the voyagers landed where Stadacona had once stood, beneath the frowning Cape Diamond, and on that day the city of Quebec was founded. The men felled trees and built rude houses, but, as summer waned and dreary winter drew on the toilers began to murmur against their hard lot, and Champlain came near to falling a victim to their malice. He discovered the conspiracy against his life just in time to thwart it, and, after hanging the leader in the plot and deporting three others, continued the work of building a city in the wilderness. Under the hands of the pioneers there grew up, under the shelter of a towering rock, a village, square as to shape, with a wall of logs and a ditch surrounding the few log houses, and with the protection of bastions and guns. It was well that Champlain had provided for defence, for within a year the ferocious Iroquois had declared war against the paleface invaders of their savage empire. The immediate cause of conflict was Champlain's alliance with the friendly Ottawa Algonquins, but, in any event, the warfare with the Iroquois was inevitable. For many years Quebec withstood the onslaughts of the redskins, and survived famine and pestilence and storm and flames. A century and a half after its founding Quebec had become a city, and "upon the slope of the great rock rose the gables of monastery and convent, the spires of church and cathedral, while above them all the rugged outlines of formidable batteries, bristling with cannon, broke the sky-line." So it was, proud and apparently invulnerable, when Wolfe came to Quebec—came, and saw, and conquered!

FIRST THINGS

The first homoeopathic physician, and the founder of that school of medicine, was Dr. Christian Friedrich Samuel Hahnemann, who was born in Saxony in 1755 and died in Paris seventy-one years ago, July 2, 1843. He was engaged in the regular practice of medicine in a little village near Leipzig when he began to doubt the efficacy of the methods of treating disease then in vogue. After several years spent in study and investigations, he was convinced that in all instances the medicines which had cured had produced a very similar condition in healthy persons to that it had relieved, and he was led to the conclusion, on which were based "the principles of similar similitudo curantur," or "similar things are cured by similar things." He immediately aroused vehement opposition, and the apothecaries refused to dispense his prescriptions, on account of the very small dosage. In 1821 he was forced to leave Leipzig, on account of the prosecution of the apothecaries, and retired to Kothen, where he was under the protection of a duke. Sick people from all over the world visited him there, and he gained many followers from among the physicians of the old school. His latter years were spent in Paris, where he died.

Brightening Summer Business

LAWNS and gardens can be kept green and vigorous in the hottest weather by watering them faithfully. By the exercise of intelligence and utilities at hand, man can offset natural tendencies.

So in the matter of business. When there arises a condition which is a menace to the health and vigor of a business—hot weather months, for example—the corrective is intelligent energy and the use of agencies which are known refreshers.

Every merchant in this community may keep his business vigorous this summer by making preparations in advance, and by employing the advertising columns of this newspaper. Preparation is the secret of success. Get ready now your programme for July and August, make plans for every week. Make every week sparkle with some fresh inducement or attraction, and advertise, Advertise, ADVERTISE.

What is the use of devising and doing extraordinary things, if the public whom you are serving, is left in ignorance of all that you plan and do?

SAANICH POUND BY-LAW SUSTAINED IN COURT

Hindus Fined for Driving Cows
Along Road So Slowly That They Could Graze

To overcome the difficulty caused in the municipality of Saanich by Hindus who persist in grazing their cows on the public roads, to the great danger of those driving along at night, the council recently amended its pound by-law by making it an offence to drive cattle along any road at a less rate than two and one-half miles an hour. There was considerable discussion before this limit was fixed, and it was agreed that any cattle traveling more slowly than this should properly be impounded as grazing on the highway.

The first cases under the by-law came before the Saanich police court to-day, three in number, and in addition another case was laid against a Hindu for having obstructed a constable in the discharge of his duty when trying to impound cows.

In connection with the latter case a sample of arrogant disregard of the court was shown by a Mahometan Hindu. The man had come to the court in some unexplained way, with a summons addressed to another, and when asked by the magistrate to hand it over flung it at his worship in a most contemptuous manner. Magistrate Jay at once ordered him to

Collector Newbury Explains
Customs Regulations Governing Entry of Cars

A matter of grave importance involving a loss to Victoria of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of tourist traffic was brought to the attention of the officers of the Victoria Automobile association this week by Samuel Hill, the wealthy backer of good roads, who is this year president of the Pacific Highway association, and was last year president of the International Good Roads congress. He states that on his arrival in Seattle with his motor car the Automobile association of that city advised him not to enter Canada at Victoria because of the difficulties which would arise over his car with the customs department.

Dr. Poore, of Santa Barbara, is with him, and states that last year he was deterred from coming across to the island for that same reason, and went to Vancouver instead. The Seattle people tell everybody to go to Vancouver, not Victoria.

So much in earnest have local people become about the question since Mr. Hill's arrival that the Victoria and Island Development league has decided to invite C. H. Barnard, Victoria's member in the House of Commons, to a meeting Monday morning at 11 o'clock in the board of trade building when the whole question will be discussed. It is felt that Mr. Barnard's representations at Ottawa may result in a relaxation of the present system. The regulations requiring that the motorist obtain certificates from both the customs and the police departments, which permit them to enter, but not to go beyond the boundaries of the port of entry, and require them to return by the same port as they entered within seven days.

Motorists Spend Money.
"Up to July 1, twelve automobiles have come to Victoria this year, and declared Mr. Hill, "the average car carries a party of five people and costs at least $4 a day for each person to obtain board and lodging, while the oil, waste and repairs on the car will bring the sum of money spent to a greater figure. In California there are at present 138,000 automobiles locally owned. By the first of 1915 there will be 150,000 at the present rate of progress. There are also thousands in Oregon and Washington. Supposing that 10,000 of those cars come up here during the year they will bring $50,000 people at a cost of $4 a day, and there you have $200,000 dropping in on you for nothing. It costs you nothing to keep up your scenery and climate."

"In other words you have an asset which you fail to capitalize. I have any reason you should not have a customs and a provincial police officer at the dock to meet the new arrivals instead of making us go to their offices for them? Is there any reason why we should not be permitted to go to Nanaimo, and Vancouver and out by way of Blaine? Is there any reason why we should not be permitted to stay eight days? In Russia I can enter at one port and come out at another. I've done it. You're more difficult of approach than Russia."

"You've got the richest and the most beautiful province in the Dominion, and what you need are people and money. You are turning away money by this restriction on tourist traffic. You know the automobile man pays cash as he goes and runs up no bad debts. But you don't want him. You've built a wall around yourself and you don't know what the limits of the port of Victoria are. They're not on the map."

Mr. Hill came to Victoria to confer with Ald. A. E. Todd, vice-president and founder of the Pacific Highway association. Mr. Hill paid him a fine tribute, and said that the west owed much to his unselfish efforts in the direction of obtaining good roads. By 1915 he hopes to see a continuous road from Mexico to Vancouver, the Columbia highway in Oregon being now almost completed.

"It is the finest road on the continent, and there are really none better in Europe. I have been over there 33 times, so I have a fair idea of what I am saying."

"All modern automobiles are being made with the left-hand drive, which makes British Columbia's system of adhering to the left side of the road dangerous. The style is out of date and steps ought to be taken to make British Columbia conform to the rest of the continent in this respect."

For Convenience.

John C. Newbury, collector of customs at this port, in discussing Mr. Hill's observations, stated this morning that with him it was a matter of enforcing the regulations. The law was made by parliament and he was employed to carry it out.

"Mr. Hill's statement does not give the situation a complete representation, however," declared Mr. Newbury. "If an automobile owner wants to put up a bond he may bring his car in for six months and take it out at any place between here and Halifax. The seven-day permit is for the convenience of motorists who want to visit Victoria for a few days and requires no bond. The bond is only $15 cash and two sureties for double the duty. Personally I should like to see tourist traffic encouraged and we do everything we can to assist it. We have had letters from motorists thanking us for our courtesy. As a matter of fact there have been 26 cars this year and all since April, but I should favor the Automobile association's taking steps to bring in more cars and prevent the Seattle people from sending them elsewhere. The members might assist the visitors in getting their bonds so as to avoid delay, for instance."

"In the matter of having a man at the dock if business should warrant it I suppose it would be within my discretion to send a man down there for an hour when the boats come in. But in requiring the tourists to come up to the office we are following the procedure at all the large ports in Canada."

"If there is any desire on the part of the Automobile association or the Development association to make conditions easier for tourists with motor cars they might have the local members take up the question at Ottawa. On account of Victoria's peculiar attractions for tourists the collector at that port be given further discretionary powers or they might ask that the regulations be made easier. As it is, it is my duty to obey instructions, and if a car should get away from me I should be reprimanded by the department."

VICTORIA WILL SHARE EXPOSITION TRAFFIC

Directors at San Francisco
Will Co-operate With Citizens Here During Fair

The hearty co-operation of the Panama Pacific exposition directors has been secured to help Victoria in the way of attracting a share of the congress and convention traffic to and from the great exhibition at San Francisco next year. Industrial Commissioner Cuthbert has received a letter from President C. C. Moore, of the exhibition, and also some information from the press bureau organized in connection with the exhibition, in which a promise is given that everything possible will be done for Victoria next year.

Commissioner Cuthbert proposes to get in touch with the presidents and secretaries of the various organizations, of which a list has been supplied to him, and invite them to make the British Columbia visit either en route to or from San Francisco. He proposes to utilize the assistance of those organizations which have local representatives, so that the various bodies may feel assured of fraternal or social greetings when passing through this city to their homes.

Among the subjects to be taken up when the Victoria and Island Development Association meets "the city member, G. H. Barnard, on Monday morning, will be the situation which arose some time ago at the outer wharf because through passengers had difficulty in coming up town to see something of the city during the time the overseas steamships were berthed here. A pass system has been initiated by the immigration department since the incident of the Australian boat recently, whose passengers were all held at the wharf.

An invitation to visit the Sidney Rubber Roofing Company's plant at Sidney, where it is intended to have the largest fuel oil tanks north of San Francisco installed, has been extended to the members of the provincial council of the Victoria and Island Development Association. A date is to be set for the visit.

Banfield residents have conveyed to the industrial commissioner information as to a number of requirements in that section of the island, which they hope citizens associated with the association will take up with the department of public works.

A number of members of the provincial council visited the commissioner to-day, accepting the invitation extended to the citizens yesterday. They discussed the future working of the association.

TO APPOINT TEACHERS

Several Vacancies to Be Filled by School Board; School Nurse to Be Named.

The July meeting of the city school board is always important, as a number of matters have to be arranged for the ensuing term. On Wednesday next the board is to select teachers to fill vacancies on the High school and graded schools staffs, and in addition there are about ten applications for the position of school nurse, vacant by the resignation of Miss Blanche Swan.

The board will soon, possibly at Wednesday's meeting, take up the question of the Central school domestic science building, which is inadequate. Steps will also probably be taken in connection with the South Park manual training and domestic science department, for which a site has been purchased from Mrs. Allen behind the present school.

Orders for a number of supplies will probably be awarded at the meeting.

Great reductions in midsummer millinery, snappy styles at low prices. Crown Millinery Parlors, 921 Fort street.

WHITE SEALERS HEARD

Government Counsel Objected to Claim of Japanese Naturalized in 1913.

The claims of five white sealers and one naturalized Japanese were heard by the Sealing Commission this morning. Sir Charles H. Tupper, K.C., counsel for the Sealing company, asked for an adjournment of his case last night until July 15, as he did not wish to argue his case until the white claims were completed. He will require three days more to put in evidence and will embark upon his argument.

Edward Mason, claiming $258, John Martin, claiming $80, George Paine, claiming $2,500, John E. Kirkbridge and Albert Parker were the individual sealers who presented their claims this morning. Paine was a cook on sealing vessels for nine years and claims for loss of occupation. Frank Curran, government counsel, objected to the claim of Takimol Hira, as the claimant testified that he had been naturalized only in 1913.

A private company incorporated under the companies act has been formed by three prominent citizens with a capital of $400,000 with the object of building on the site formerly occupied by the Five Sisters block, which was destroyed in the fire of October 25, 1910.

The members of the company are Charles Hayward, James Andrew Mara and James Forman, and they are incorporated, according to the announcement contained in the B. C. Gazette to-day, to acquire lands and buildings and erect buildings and carry on such other matters as are incidental to this.

It is understood that the company will acquire the L-shaped lot fronting Government and Fort streets and surrounding the corner which is held by the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway company, which was purchased two years ago for the sum of $200,000 by a syndicate consisting of Charles Hayward, J. A. Mara, Percy Raymond, Fred Landsberg, Fred Moore, Luke Pither and B. S. Helsterman.

BULL CROWD RESUME

MARKET OPERATIONS

Buying in Wall Street More Spirited Than for Some Time Past

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
New York, July 3.—The bull crowd resumed their operations and the market recorded a higher level. Dealings were somewhat restricted by the near approach of the holiday, but it was noticed that buying was more spirited than for some time. Improvement in the enquiry for copper metal has given the copper issues their better tone and such were conspicuous for their gains this morning. All American exchanges will be closed tomorrow (July 4), account Independence Day.

WHEAT MARKET CLOSE LOWER FROM YESTERDAY

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Chicago, July 2.—The higher Liverpool cable gave wheat a firmer tendency on the opening, and yesterday's advance was continued to some extent. The close of the market was lower than last night, however.

To-morrow's adjournment of all American markets limited dealings and trading was largely of an evening-up kind.

Dubian shipments of wheat this week are estimated at three and a half million bushels.

WILL ASSIST CITIES TO GET PURE MILK

Dominion Makes Regulations for Inspection of Dairy Herds for Tuberculosis

Regulations relating to tuberculosis have lately been drawn up by the governor-general-in-council for the purpose of assisting the cities and towns that are endeavoring to secure a pure and wholesome milk supply for their inhabitants, and to further the prevention of the sale of milk from tuberculosis cows.

The aid of the department of agriculture will be given to all towns and cities of five thousand people and over which have secured legislative authority and ask for aid in controlling bovine tuberculosis in the cows supplying milk and cream, provided that the dairies in which the milk and cream are produced are licensed, that no license shall be issued unless the dairy conforms to a required standard and that the standard shall require stables to have an ample amount of air space and at least two square feet of window space for each cow and be well ventilated, drained and kept clean and sanitary; that after two years from the first test of cattle of any dairy the sale within the municipality of milk or cream from any herd shall be prohibited unless the herd shows a clean bill of health from the veterinary inspector; that an inspector or inspectors shall be appointed and paid by the municipality to see that these requirements are carried out and the cows kept clean and properly fed and cared for.

When the veterinary inspector-general has received notice from any municipality of its desire for assistance he is to send veterinary inspectors to inspect the cows, upon which they shall make the tuberculin test and make a careful physical examination. Cows which, in the opinion of the inspector, are affected with open tuberculosis and are distributing the germs of the disease through the milk shall be sent to an abattoir under inspection and there slaughtered as soon as convenient, or if there is no abattoir within reach then in the presence of the inspector. Reactors are to be separated from non-reactors as effectively as can be done and the owner gets the option of disposing of them either by immediate slaughter, slaughter after they have been prepared for the block by drying off and feeding, or by retaining them in the herd and selling no milk or cream until it has been pasteurized.

Compensation shall be paid to the owner of a herd for all cows slaughtered under the regulations upon the basis of one-half of the appraised value of the cow if destroyed as a case of open tuberculosis, and one-third if destroyed as a reactor at the request of the owner, the valuation to be made by the inspector and not to exceed the maximum valuation as fixed in the act. The salvage from the carcass is to be paid to the owner in addition to any compensation he receives, provided that the two together amount to less than the appraised value. If it comes to more the Dominion treasury benefits.

No compensation is to be paid to an owner unless, in the opinion of the minister, he assists as far as possible in the eradication of the disease by following the instructions of the inspector as to disinfection and so forth. No milk or cream is to be sold from a herd containing reactors unless it is properly pasteurized. The municipal inspectors have to see that this requirement is effectively carried out. All cows bought by an owner while his herd is under control must be submitted to the test and pass it successfully before being placed with the healthy cows. When two successive tests fail to show any reactors in a herd it is to be deemed healthy.

HOW THE KAISER UNBENT.

At Potsdam the Kaiser took part in the annual "white roll feast" of the model infantry battalion of the German army. The feast is the one occasion in each year when wheat bread instead of black army "commisbread" is served to the battalion, together with a good dinner of meat, stewed fruits, vegetables, and "malbowle," or hook cup.

The Kaiser, in accordance with tradition, sat down among the soldiers, broke "white rolls" with them, and then drained a tumblerful of "malbowle" from the glass of a soldier who had already drunk from it.

The model battalion of 600 officers and men is made up of two picked men from each infantry regiment in the army except the Bavarian corps.
